A YEAR OF Changes

The theme for this year's Lucky Bag is "A Year of Changes." Not only does this edition mark the 100th Anniversary of the Lucky Bag, but many things have happened this year at the Naval Academy which will forever change the way it operates. When the Brigade returned in the fall, the message was "Ship, shipmates, self." The Commandant told the first class that they were going to run the Brigade under the leadership of the first female Brigade Commander. Positive leadership was to be the rule instead of the exception; and much to the second class' dismay, two-for-seven night was cancelled. As the year progressed, more changes unfolded, seemingly everyday. The first class had cinderella libs every day and were allowed out in town on service selection night. And lastly, plebe year became less severe in the new age of "Total Quality Leadership." The Naval Academy was not the only place that experienced changes. The empire known as the Soviet Union ceased to exist, Eastern European countries gained back their independence, and the United States began to feel the effects of a recession. With all of these things happening, it was obvious that this year was "A Year of Changes."

Our chain-of-command not only makes up the rules and regulations, but also provides us with an example to follow. We can only learn from the experience of those who have gone before us. From the Commander-In-Chief on down to the squad leader, the chain-of-command is one of the most important concepts to learn while here at the Academy.

Midshipmen are required to take a wide variety of subjects, from chemistry and physics to english and history. Such a diverse curriculum requires many professors, each with his own teaching style. This faculty changes each year as professors come and go, but the quality of education remains the same--excellent.

Sports at the Naval Academy are a way for many midshipmen to release some of the tension. As our lives change around us, sports can be a constant source of energy and enthusiasm. Every person is not only competing for himself, but for the team. Teamwork, that is what the Naval Academy is all about.

A YEAR OF Changes

Football

Fifteen years from now when the Naval Academy class of 1992 meets for their reunion, they will surely be asked one question. "Did you guys beat Army your first class year?" You see, no where else in America is a one game season more prevalent than here at Navy. There is no where else where an 1-10 team is considered a group of winners. Moreover, many people will be hard pressed to even recall the team's record much less a score to any of the games, but you can rest assured that they will remember that they beat Army 24-3, on December 7, 1991.

Well, the record before the Army/Navy game was a bitter 0-10. The team opened up at home versus an underrated Ball State team. This tough defensive team, who finished the season with a 9-2 record set the tone for a dismal season thoroughly shutting the Navy Offense down. Coach George Chaump endured five more subsequent losses before he discovered 4/C Jim Kubiak. The strong armed Kubiak spent the next three games learning the ins and outsof Division one football. A hint of things to come was shown in the regular season againnst Wake Forest, where young Kubiak set a Navy record by passing over 400 yards. Unfortunately, despite this and other gallant efforts throughout the season, the Midshipman finished with an 0-10 record. The Army game was next, and nobody could have guessed what would transpire.

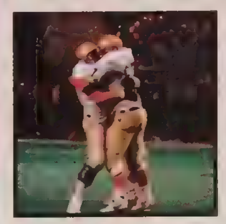
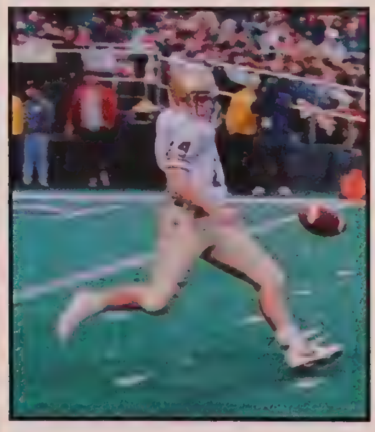
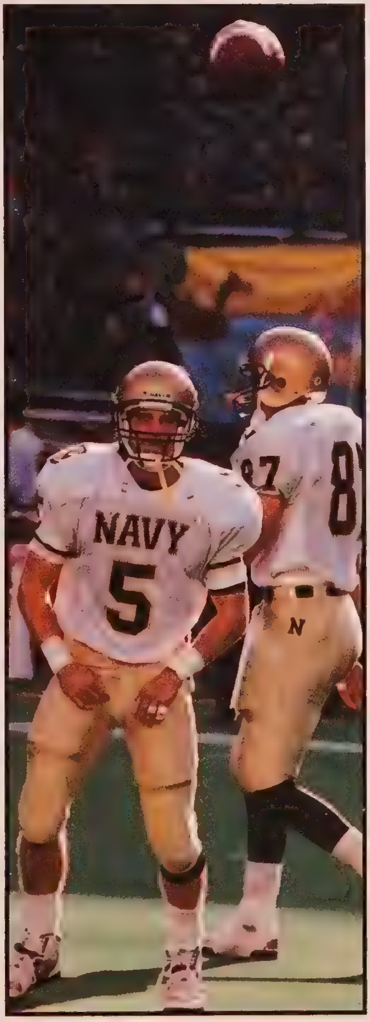
Army/Navy Game



Wow! What a game! Who could have asked for a better ending to the football season? Navy not only beat Army this year, they crushed them 24-3! What makes this football team so special is that it did not know the word quit. They fought their hearts out every game but never seemed to come out on the winning end. Many people outside of the Naval Academy had written Navy off as a lost cause in the Army/Navy game. This game can never be predicted, however, because anything can happen and this year is the proof. As the Brigade said, "It can be done in '91."

After the game, one player had this to say, "The Thursday evening before the game against Army the team had a meeting. We were gathering to hear what seemed like our 100th 'pep' talk from, we guessed, another alumni member. I do not remember the man's name, but I will never forget what he said. He started off by telling us that he was happy that we were 0-10. This of course, quickly got our attention. He continued to say that the reason he was happy was that if we were 1-9 or 2-8 or some other poor record, we would not be in such an enviable position. The position he was speaking of was the position to make history. Never before had a winless Navy football team gone on to defeat Army. Well the rest, as they say, is history."





150 Football

The 1991 Navy lightweight football team shared the national and ELFL titles with our arch rivals from the isolated government institution on the Hudson otherwise known as West Point. The season was one continuous highlight after another. Coming off of two disappointing losing seasons (only 2 of 3 in the team's 45 year history), Navy rallied to an impressive 5-0-1 record. The team benefitted from strong senior leadership and a hard-charging group of underclass. Some key offensive performers included 3/C Matt Kirby, leading passer in the league, 1/C Tom Daily with his clutch receiving, and co-captain Fred Schenk, the steady leader. Virg Palumbo anchored the middle of a punishing Navy defense with end Rob Fulford taking away the outside game, and co-captain Jim Weyant rallying the secondary. Some highlights from the season include an exciting come-from-behind last minute victory against the University of Pennsylvania on their home turf, and the fourth quarter 2 touchdown comeback to tie Army. The team set school and league records for numbers of players selected to the league all-star team. It was an impressive season, and has left head coach Major Gene Boley (USMC), ELFL Coach of the Year, with high expectations for the future.

Men's Soccer

Navy Soccer experienced a very successful season finishing 12-7 including a dominating 3-1 victory over Army. Entering a new league with few returning starters, they were not sure what to expect. However, led by Captain Rich Bassi and the rest of the brothers (TR, JD, Brother Bradley, Chris, Zeus, and TJ) the season started out with Navy's best showing in 10 years -- a five game winning streak and an upset over regional powerhouse Howard University -- and finished with the most victories since 1971.

Cliff Carpenter and Set Walters led Navy in scoring. Walters, who set a Navy assist record, was joined by Carpenter and teammate Jono Halverson in making the 1st team All-Patriot League. Carpenter also made 2nd team all-south. Rich Bassi, Seth Walters, and Doug Williams also earned Patriot League of the Week honors.

Although teams of the past have had more talent, this was a team of hard-working, dedicated players who wanted to win. They epitomized the team concept which was why they were successful.

Women's Soccer

With a new coach (LT Ingrid Turner), and an experienced team, the Navy women's soccer team was nothing short of successful this 1991-92 season. The women closed with a record of 14-2-2, defeating Virginia Tech (4-3) for the first time in the history of Navy women's soccer. Along with the end of the season goes the end of college soccer careers for five of the starting line-up. The frontline of Vanessa Henderson '92, Kate Christensen '92, and sweeper, Katie Patrick '92, will find a new and younger set of faces. But the young team should be able to continue to be a challenge for other school's next year. Go Navy!!

Water Polo

Navy water polo finished the 1991 seson ranked number 8 nationally with a 20-10 record. After a rocky start, Navy went on a ten game winning strak, including a 10-4 victory over Army in the N* game that put the mids up 9-0 in the Army-Navy water polo series. Despite a loss to Slippery Rock, Navy spirits remained high as Navy's team captain, Luis Nicolao, broke the USNA record for most points in a career. With the help of seniors Jerry Berman (26 goals, 10 assists), Pete Frost (27 goals, 15 assists), Jimmy Marks (19 goals, 17 assists) and Mike Siepert (29 goals, 8 assists), Navy placed second in MidAtlantics and placed second at Easterns earning the number 8 seed in the NCAA Championships in Long Beach, California. Nicolao, for his offensive power (81 goals), siepert for his defensive abilities (103 steals), and youngster goalie, John McCullough (.541 save average) received all-east honors. Navy placed eighth in the NCAA's falling to the eventual champions Cal-Berkley along the way. Nicolao was named 3rd team All American ending his water polo career at Navy with 477 points in 4 seasons.

Men's Volleyball

The men's volleyball team finished 11-11 on the year and were ranked 19th in the country in the season-ending poll. Coach Mike Schwob's squad advanced to the EIVA semifinals before being eliminated by Rutgers-Newark.

Second classmen George Beiter and Tom Kait were named to the All-East squad. Plebe Chris Fassari finished sixth in the nation with a .434 hitting percentage and 11th in the nation with 1.45 blocks per game.

Women's Volleyball

The Women's Varsity Volleyball Team Ended their first season in Division I with a record of 16-16. It was the first season in the Patriot League and they ended third in the league tournament held at West Point. Only losing one senior from last year, Captain Allison Datka, the team possessed quite a few experienced players. Seniors Laura Hatcher, Stephanie Dixon, and Rachelle Smith led the team in offensive statistics. Hatcher was second in the nation for blocking in Division I setting a new Navy record of 444 blocks. With this accomplishment she was selected all Patiots League. Dixon was the power spiker accumulating a career record of 1362 kills, .301 kill average, and was choosen for second team All Patriot League. Smith did an outstanding job as setter for the team and was second in the league for assists. This trio was able to run a quick offense and with the experience of 2/C Voncourtney Van Schooneveld, Tiffany LOrd, and Anna Cruz-the team proved to be a formidable opponent. Van Schooneveld was a valuable defense, leading the team in digs and service receptions. Also supporting her ib defense were 2/C Lori Perkins, Wendy Phillips, and Kathy Badgely when not spiking in front or on the sidelines with an injuy.

One of the up and comming stars is 4/C Katie Schullian. She ran a quick middle and led the team in hitting percentage and was second in blocking behind Hatcher. Scullian was named rookie of the year for the Patriot League, making tean all league also. Other strong performers were 4/C Karen Flaherty, Emily Harris, Molly Boron, and Pam Dozier as hitters, and the backup setter 4/C Kelly Cantley. 3/C Cheryl Thompson was the lone 1994 member and will join the others in maintaining a strong volleyball program. This group demonstrated a lot of determination, dedication, and heart. Injuries plagued the season, but with a lot of depth and teamwork it did not play a significant factor. Next year look for them to make a real showing in the league and in the region.

Men's Cross Country

It was another successful season for the Men's Cross Country team, highlighted by a 20-41 win over Army. This was Navy's fifth victory in a row over Army and with this victory Navy tallies 17 wins out of the last 18 times they have meet the Cadets in competitions.

2/C Greg Keller, this year's team captain, lived up to his title, leading the Mids throughout the season. Keller qualified for the NCAA Championships, marking the third straight season he has advanced to the championship meet.

Navy placed fourth in the Heptagonal Championships, finishing behind Dartmouth, Cornell and Army, in that order. Keller placed second among the 86 competitors with a time of 24:33.96.

At the IC4A Championships, Navy was 10th overall and seventh among Region II schools. Keller was fifth overall with a time of 30:40.36. With this time he qualified for the national championship meet.

Women's Cross Country

The Women's Cross Country Team entered its first season competing at the Division I level and came away with an impressive 4-2 record. Top highlights include the 4th consecutive victory over Army and the ECAC University Championship over 21 other Division I Teams!

Senior Captain Susie Stewart did an outstanding job leading her teammates to victory finishing first for the Mids, while plebe standout Nancy Olson finished second for Navy and overall.

Junior Kerry O'Neill (a Division II All-American), raced in the NCAA Qualifying Competition, finishing 24th overall in a record setting time of 17:15, earning All-East Honors!

Other impressive showings include a 9th place finish out of 36 teams in the Paul Short Invite, and a first place finish in the Delaware Invite where O'Neill and Stewart raced to a first and second finish overall.

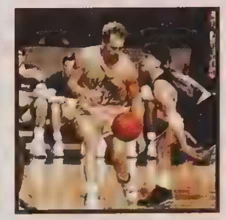
Fall Intramurals

Fall is a season when leaves are falling and mids are more eager to get into the camaraderie with their fellow shipmates. There is no better way to do that than participating in the Fall Intramural sports. Disc football is a favorite among the midshipmen. Sweating on the fields surrounding the Academy mids carry on the tradition of competition with a frisbee.

Racquetball also is a big fan of hungry players waiting for a thrill on the courts. While others still seek the challenge of a more serious sport, Squash. With smaller balls and longer raquets, mids experience the thrill of the game.

Fall would not be fall without the intense game of soccer. The head shots and shin kicks are always the pains of a good game, but none-the-less it makes it equally exciting to watch.

Men's Basketball



Close games, youth and injuries earmarked a difficult campaign for the Navy basketball team, one in which the Mids went 6-22 overall and 1-13 in the first season as members of the Patriot League. Fifteen of the twenty-eight games were decided by eight points or less. Several of those defeats, however, could be chalked up to inexperience. The team started at least one plebe in every game. Newcomers Derrick Wall, Mark Majick, and Wes Cooper provided the biggest contributions.

Wall, a 6-6 forward, and Majick, a 6-3 guard, were named to the Patriot League's All-Rookie team. Wall, runner-up for Patriot League Rookie of the Year honors, was named Patriot League rookie of the week three times, while Majick earned the honor once. Other plebes who had an impact included Brian Cochran, Kevin Kozak and Larry Green. In all, the plebes had the largest impact on the team.

Injuries played a key during many of the losses this season. Firstie center Nick Marusich, tabbed as a pre-season All-Patriot League selection, injured his shoulder, missing one game and playing sparingly in another. He was injured again shortly after his shoulder healed, fracturing his cheekbone prior to Navy's game at Bucknell. In all, five players missed a combined 14 games due to ailments.

Even though the Navy basketball team has had some hard times, next year is always a new year. With the experience the plebes gained this year, the team should be tough.

Women's Basketball

For the 1991-92 Women's Basketball Team, the season was marked by many firsts. The team began the season at the Division I level and were the newest member of the Patriot league. Although the team finished fifth in the league with a 4 and 10 record and an overall record of 10-17, the team showed great enthusiasm and potential. With great individual performances throughout the season by youngsters Yolanda Ray, Kim Cowling, Jenna Hausvik, Jen Ogilvie, Tara Caroselli, and Erin Nickles the team has the nucleus for great future success. Adding their strength to the team were plebers Angie King, Jane Reddick, and Wendy Towle. With our young was a mix of experience. 2/C Heather Brand provided the team with 3-point accuracy as well as feisty defense and outstanding leadership. 2/C Kim Drayton gave the team an explosive offensive punch needed to win some of the closer games. All in all, this year's team provided its fans with fun and exciting games. With a strong cap of returning players, there is no doubt that that next years team will provide a fast paced, exciting brand of basketball. Although Pauline Holzhauer and Angela Dobbs are leaving, Navy Women's Basketball will remain fans of the team forever! Beat Army!!!!

Men's Gymnastics

This year the team adjusted well to big changes under the reins of a new head coach, Dr. Sho Fukushima. With the experience of six returning lettermen and the motivation of six more newcomers, the team geared up for a great season. Injuries hit the midshipmen hard and held Navy to a record of 2-7, but the season was a success in many other ways.

The highlight of this year's gymnastics season was the Army meet. The cadets came into the Navy gym confident that they would break Navy's ten year streak, but the Navy Men were able to defeat Army in a close bout, 264.35 to 262.70, extending the streak to 11 straight years of Navy victories.

There is no doubt that one aspect of the team's performance this year stands out to make them a truly exceptional group: SPIRIT. On the individual level this spirit was obvious. During the victory over Army Senior Edan Antoine displayed it when he threw the needed set on the parallel bars while still in pain from a rather serious knee injury he received during warm-ups. Team captain David Rudko showed it as well as he rushed back to the gym at U. Mass from the hospital after getting his head sewn together with ten stitches to take sixth place in EIGL championships.

Other outstanding individuals deserve mention. The top all-around gymnast on Navy's squad, Senior Jeff Stim, was always one to watch and was one of two Navy gymnasts to earn a trip to the regional meet in Iowa for his performance on the still rings. Junior J.J. Skelly accompanied Jeff to compete on the high bar, his best event. Senior Mark Matthys had an exceptional season scoring in the 9's on the pommel horse and earning a spot on the floor team, and Sophomore Jimmy Parker consistently showed his strength on rings, parallel bars, and vault. The motivation of the five plebes will never be forgotten. Josh Levy, Helmut Buttner, Jody Williams, Scott McCracken, and Ken Peter created a bond for the team which set the stage for the Navy Spirit to take hold.

Women's Gymnastics

Although the Mids struggled through a difficult season, several members of the squad saved their best performances for the second half of the campaign.

Against Radford, career highs were set by second-class Shaun McAndrew in the floor exercise with a 7.35 and the beam with a 8.2, second-class Anne Say in the floor exercise with a 7.8, third-class Kendra Williams in the all-around with a 33.25, and third-class Brenna Baker in the all-around with a 31.60.

Navy tallied a season-high 168.05 points in the regular-season finale against North Carolina.

Williams broke her previous career high in the all-around with her score of 34.80, placing fourth overall. Williams was Navy's top all-around performer for the season, competing in everymeet.

In five of the last six meets, Navy logged overall scores of 160 or higher, with the high-water mark coming against North Carolina.

Men's Indoor Track

The indoor tracksters put together one of their most impressive seasons in years, highlighted by the first-place finish at the 1992 Indoor Heptagonals Championships.

The indoor Heps title was Navy's first since 1974 and third overall. It was also the second straight title for coach Steve Cooksey, who led the Mids to the 1991 outdoor Heps championships.

First-place finishes at the Heps were recorded by second-class Greg Keller, who won both the one-mile (4:11.59) and the 3000m (8:23.6), firstie John Fox in the 400m dash (48.35), third-class Joel Robertson in the triple jump (49-9.25) and third class Darrell Gobble in the pole vault (16-9.25).

Gobble also set a school and meet record in the dual win over Army, winning the pole vault with a leap of 16-6.75. Navy's 91-45 win over Army was the Mids' third straight over the Cadets. Navy has won six of the last seven over Army.

Another school record was broken in the Army-Navy dual as Keller posted a time of 4:02.64 in the mile run. That time was the 11th best in the nation and placed Keller in the NCAA Indoor Championships, where he earned All-American honors, placing sixth with a time of 4:04.41.

Women's Indoor Track

The Navy women, in their first season on the Division I level, competed at the Delaware Invitational, the Princeton Relays, the Heptagonals, the ECACs and hosted the Navy Open and the Navy Invitational.

The 4X800 relay squad of Nancy Olson, Alexis Petrosky, Morgan Paul and Aletha Williams set a school record with a time of 9:15.73 at the Eastern Championships. The quartet took sixth place en route to All-East honors and broke the record of 9:16.0 which was set in 1983. The Mids finished 32nd in the 52 team field.

Plebe Laura Molnar set an Academy record with her heave of 44-4.75 in the shot put as Navy finished ninth in the ten-team Heptagonal Indoor Championships held in Hanover, N.H. Molnar also grabbed first in the event at the Navy Open.

Army defeated Navy, 69-49, to make it six straight losses to the Cadets since the series inception in 1987. Kerry O'Neill and Nancy Olson finished one-two in the mile while Sonja Knight and Linda Garner did the same in the 55-meter dash.

Second classman O'Neill ran well in the distance events and notched firsts in the 5000 meters at the Navy Invitational and the Delaware Invitational. Olson was impressive in her plebe year and finished behind O'Neill on several occasions, including a runner-up spot in the mile (5:03.71) in the Army-Navy meet.

Wrestling

Navy's 13-5 season was highlighted with the performance of four athletes' participation in the Division I NCAA Wrestling Championships.

Plebe heavyweight Dan Hicks, second-classmen Tom Storey (190) and Jamie Cummings (167), and firstie Brad Gazaway (142) represented the Academy in fine fashion. They entered the tournament unseeded and although no one placed in the top eight spots, the squad upset numerous seeded individuals. Storey won his first two matches to advance to the quarterfinals, but fell 12-4 to the No. 1 seed, Rex Holman of Ohio State. He was one win shy of placing as he lost to Matt Case of Northwestern in the consolations.

On February 22 in Alumni Hall Coach Reg Wicks' squad completed three decades of dominance over Army with a 22-18 win. The Cadets went down fighting as the match came down to the heavyweight match -- Hicks took the mat with a slim 19-18 lead and decisioned Army's Bill Sjolinder, 6-0, to give the Mids a 27-0-3 slate against the West Pointers since 1963.

The Mids captured the Navy Classic title and were runners-up in the Virginia Duals and in the 88th Annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championships. Nick Melfi, a second-classman, was the Sunshine Open and the Virginia Dual champ at 134 while Hicks captured the heavyweight crown at Easterns. Storey and Cummings finished runners-up at their weights at the EIWA's.

Wins over wrestling powers Syracuse, West Virginia and Pitt continued the tradition of success at the Academy while near misses to Bloomsburg, North Carolina State, and North Carolina (dual and Virginia Dual Championship) rounded out the exciting season that featured the last four duals being decided in the heavyweight match.

Men's Swimming

The Navy men's swim team turned out a strong season which included a 5-7 dual meet record, a 6th place finish at the Eastern Seaboard Championships, and a huge win over Army. The victory over West Point and the high finish at Easterns were results that Navy had not seen seen since 1988. Beating Army 135-108 at home gave the team the confidence it needed for the second half of the season.

A total of ten team records were broken at Easterns. Eric Winter '93 broke records in the 200,400,800, and 1500 free. Brad Juhl and John Phillips broke records in the 200 back and 200 breast respectively. Finally, all USNA relay records except one were replaced, including the 200 and 400 medley, and the 200 and 800 free relays. With the outstanding season the team had in 1992, and with few graduating seniors, the prospects look even better for 1993.

Women's Swimming

The Navy women's swimming and diving team had a successful season in their first year of NCAA Division I competition. The highlight of the year was in December with their overwhelming win over Army. The Mids went on to beat Army again in their first year of competition in the Patriot League Conference Championships. They swept the meet, winning 7 events. First place finishers included senior diver Stacia Johnson in the 1 and 3 meter diving, plebe Amy Salness in the 100M breast, Kelly Kinsella in the 200M breast, the 800M plebe free relay team consisting of Carolyn Wisner, Julie Zavodny, Kara Kouloheras, and Amy Hutchison, and the 400 Medley team of Wisner, Kinsella, Zavodny and Mary-Beth Sines. The mids also had a strong showing at the Eastern Seaboard Competition, placing 10th. Johnson swept the diving competition, winning both the 1 and 3 meter diving. She also was awarded the Diver of the Year and competed in the NCAA Division I national championships. School records set during the year were by Kinsella in the 100 individual medley, Zavodny in the 200 free, and Wisner in the 200 back and the plebe 800 free relay. With this kind of strength, the Navy women's swim team will continue their success in the NCAA Division I.

Men's Fencing

Navy posted an 8-7 record under head coach Ed Donofrio, including a solid showing in the NCAA Regionals. At the NCAAs, the Mids finished fourth in epee, seventh in foil, and eighth in sabre.

The midshipmen also received a bronze medal in epee at the Intercollegiate Fencing Association. Team captain David Brett-Major made the first team All-East with a fifth place finish.

Firstie Tom Chung was named to the All Mid-Atlantic Region 1st team in foil. Chung finished with a 26-13 record. Firstie Steve Gaston finished with a 15-18 mark in foil.

Brett-Major was the top fencer in epee with a 24-16 record, while plebe James Biribauer showed promise with a 18-12 record. In sabre, second class Tim Gudukas was 24-21 and third class Keith Hash was 13-11.

Women's Fencing

Women's fencing finished 6-8-1 and placed eighth at the NCAA Regionals. They had wins over Wofford (10-6), North Carolina State (13-3), Duke (11-5), Haverford (12-4), Rutgers (9-7), James Madison (9-7), and MIT (8-8), based on fewest touches.

Team captain Amy Lawless led the team, coached by Ed Donofrio, with a 31-24 record. Firstie Bonnie Roberts finished 34-22, while second class Andrea Lewis was 25-28. Lawless and Roberts were the only seniors on this year's team.

Hockey

The 1991-1992 ice hockey season was Navy's best ever. The team's record was an impressive 17 wins and 5 losses which placed them sixth in the nation at the end of the season. Some highlights of the season included a three game sweep of rival West Chester University, the first Navy victory over nationally ranked Arizona in front of 6200 fans in Tucson, the first ever sweep of the college Militaire Royal (A Division II military academy from St. Jean Quebec), the first ever victory over Division III Villanova University, and a second consecutive trip to the National Club Hockey Tournament which was held at Penn State University in State College, Pennsylvania.

The work that led to all of the success of the Navy hockey team began long before there was ice down in Dahlgren Hall. Early in September all prospects were subjected to a challenging dry-land program including running and weightlifting regiments. This ensured that all team members were prepared for some of the most gruelling skating practices ever conducted between the boards of Dahlgren.

Many members of the team were standout performers. Offensively a record number five players notched 30 or more points. They were: Jeff Fogarty, Tim Fetsch, Seve Roberto, Jake Skala, and Rob Doherty. Leading the strongest defensive squad was Steve Godinho and Jon Hetland while goalie Rich Doyle was sure absolutely nothing entered the net! Although the team will lose six firsties, Navy Hockey promises a solid season again next year.

Boxing

Navy boxing had a number of great performers this year. The results of the Brigade Champions are as follows:

119 lb Chad Burke
125 lb Eric Stenzel
132 lb Shane Vouldren
139 lb Roy Pickett
147 lb Matt Watt
156 lb Mike Schoffman
165 lb Marvin Reed
172 lb Clint Chlebowski
180 lb Dirk Cooper
190 lb Bill Jewett
Heavyweight Tom Scheer

The following Navy Boxers went on to become 1992 ECBA Regional boxing champions and All Americans:

132 lb Craig Rogerson
157 lb Dan Holsberg
165 lb Marvin Reed
180 lb Dirk Cooper
Heavyweight Tom Scheer

First Class Dirk Cooper won the National Championship at 180 lb and first class Clint Chlebowski was named the recipient of the coveted Spike Webb Outstanding Boxer award. The Navy Boxing team had a wealth of underclass talent as well as leadership from an outstanding crop of first-classmen. With such a combination of talent, next year's team should bring home the National Championship.

Pistol

The varsity pistol team started the season with five returning lettermen and finished the season with an undefeated record of 10-0. They beat Army 10,455 to 10,332. They were also presented an award for 57 consecutive victories by the class of '57. They ended the season with five All-Americans. During the season 2/c Chris Alvarez set new records increasing his holdings to five combined range and collegiate records. The pistol team holds three range records and two national collegiate records. At the national competition held at the Olympic training center in Colorado Springs, Co, Navy took gold medals in all three events; air, free, and standard. The set a new national record in air pistol with a score of 2,250. The team was under the excellent leadership of team captain J.T. Johnson and manager Roy Bartkovak. 2/c Chris Alvarez and 2/c Jimmy Marsh continued their pursuit for the Olympic team in air pistol. Coach Bill Karditzas is looking forward to another undefeated season next year after picking up five strong plebes.

Rifle

The only better news than this years Varsity Rifle Team's performance is the potential it has next year. Only two senior lettermen are gone to graduation and next year's team will benefit from a wealth of experience. In the words of veteran coach Ray "Gunner" Anti, "We had a lot of depth this year and with the superb quality of recruits that are on the way in '96, next season will be just as painful for our opponents."

After an early setback to Xavier University, the team went on to seek revenge on all the rest of the teams it faced. And it did, by going undefeated the remainder of the season, including a win over a small unknown college on the Hudson. The victory over Army was the second in as many years and was by the largest margin in almost 25 years. With the backbone of the team, John "Soup" Campbell ('93) and George Korol ('93), on All-American pace, the team went on to win the Master's division of the Mid Atlantic Championships. Joe Madrid ('93) completed his "Cinderella story" by coming from team manager his plebe year to All-American in Air Rifle this season. Seniors Dino Martinez and team captain Dennis Rivet rounded out the core of shooters that carried the team to its victories. Other lettermen included Matt Bartel ('94), who competed in Nationals, Brian Ross ('94), John Kennard ('93), Dave Perriera ('93) and Sean Kelliher ('93). Promising recruit Dan Hughes came on strong, contributed all year, and will return as a letterman. Other promising plebe recruits Richard Knapp, Heather Stevens, and Eric Nordstrom will look to get in on the action next year also. Look for Navy to bring home another star and a trophy from Nationals next year.

Winter Intramurals

Winter intramurals are always fun. Midshipmen take to the football fields, handball courts, and swimming pools in the afternoons to compete against their classmates. Winter intramurals are sometimes tough as a warm rack is a much better alternative than a frozen football field. However, once on the field, competition is fierce as companies and battalions compete to be Brigade champions.

Intramurals here at the Naval Academy are different than any other university. Everyone not in a varsity sport or Brigade Support Activity is a member of some type of intramural. It helps promote company unity and spirit.

Powerlifting

The Powerlifting Team took an overwhelming victory during the Regional Competitions this fall, coming in first place against several top ranked collegiate lifters. Many navy lifters took this opportunity to qualify for Nationals.

The Powerlifting Team competed in the USPF National Collegiate Powerlifting Championships in Raleigh, North Carolina during Spring Break taking second place. First place winners were Tracey James ('92), Jay George ('92), Maria Grauerholz ('93), and Steven Payne ('94). Also, there were a phenomenal number of All-American winners for Navy.

Squash

The varsity squash team had one of its most successful seasons in recent years. They placed fourth in the country behind Harvard, Princeton, and Yale during the regular season. At intercollegiates, the squash team placed fifth in the country. The midshipmen were led by first team All-American Midn 3/c Jamie Slough and second team All-American Midn 2/c Casey Garwood. The mids started out strong at the beginning of the season with tough wins over Amherst, 7-2, and Brown, 5-4. Coming up with big wins were newcomers to the Navy scene, number five Midn 4/c Al Sprenger and number seven, Midn 4/c Mo Curran. The mids ran into some good teams and suffered losses at the hands of Harvard and Princeton. Midn 1/c Rob Patrick, captain and number six man, scored a 5-4 victory over rival U. Penn. Midn 1/c Andy McCartney, number three, came up with a huge win to preserve the victory and a number four national ranking. The mids then entertained Cornell at home, beating them 8-1. The biggest win of the season came against Franklin and Marshall where four of the matches were decided in fifth game tiebreakers. Overall, it was a great season for Navy squash.

Baseball

Navy finished the 1992 baseball season with an 18-20 record and a 6-8 mark in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League. Six of Navy's 20 losses came against teams that qualified for the NCAA tournament.

Navy was led offensively by sophomore third baseman Andy Payne, who hit .377 and drove in 26 runs. Payne hit .381 in league play and was named to the first team. Junior shortstop Todd Butler hit a school-record 18 doubles, while hitting .336. Butler, along with senior centerfielder Lonny Stare (.305), were named to the honorable mention all-EIBL squad. Other top performers at the plat for Navy were sophomore rightfielder Erik Ostmo (.319), senior leftfielder Chris Lopez (.276) and sophomore first baseman Marcus Lee (five home runs).

The mound corps was led by sophomore Scott Wilson, who was 6-3 with a 2.91 ERA. Wilson tossed seven complete games and two shutouts. Seniors Matt Portoni and Rob Sorensen also had outstanding seasons. Portoni was a 4-1 with a 3.46 ERA and Sorensen was 3-3 with a 4.60 ERA.

This was the last season for Navy in the EIBL. Next year the Mids will compete in the Patriot League.

Women's Softball

The 1992 season ended with a record of 3 wins and 3 losses. A total of 4 double headers were cancelled due to rain and/or poor field conditions. One doubleheader against Prince George Community College was considered a forfeit when they failed to appear for a scheduled game here at Navy.

Navy softball stepped up its recruiting effort this year and was introduced to a couple of fresh new talents in the Class of 1995. Of the six plebes recruited, three went on to letter this season and will give the team the depth it has lacked in the past. The senior leadership on the team played consistently well and contributed significantly to some of the more successful games. The team was extremely fortunate this year, as it avoided any serious injury during the season. Everyone is expected to return intact next year with the exception of senior standouts, Amy Lawless and Shannon Lacy.

Heavyweight Crew

The Navy heavyweight crew team attacked its 91-92 crew season with high hopes for regaining the National Team Title from the University of Pennsylvania. After an undefeated Fall season, the Heavyweights set their sights on the Spring and their ambitious goal to reclaim the Ten Eyck trophy for the best collegiate rowing team.

Navy's improvement continued throughout the Spring season as it had a strong showing Eastern Sprints Championships in May. Navy's 3rd and 4th varsity boats convincingly defeated all opposition, the 2nd varsity boat finished a strong 3rd place, and the 1st varsity boat placed an encouraging 5th place. This set the stage for the entire team's success at Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championship Regatta.

This year Navy had its strongest finish at the Regatta since 1965. The midshipmen placed first in both the Varsity and Second Varsity Eight events as well as the Varsity Four, and Freshmen Four events. This "gold push" showed the great depth of Navy's team this year. Following the Regatta, the Varsity Eight became the first Naval Academy crew to participate in the National Collegiate Rowing Championships in Cincinatti. The mids finished fifth in a highly competitive field, only a few seconds behind the winners.

Lightweight Crew

"I looked at them as they jetted past, and then I quickly looked again. This boat appeared to be manned by skeletons. Their cheek bones stood out like knots, their ribs were clearly defined as if they were painted on. Every leg and arm muscle showed as taut as steel cabling . . . . A special breed of oarsmen, known as lightweights . . . They looked lean, intense and just plain ornery." Brad Lewis, 1990.

Navy's fall season proved successful as the crew got off to a great start. Led by new head coach Mike Hughes, the lightweights attacked the season with vigor. In the first race of the fall season, the Head of the Potomac in Washington D.C., the firsties took home the gold and the class of '93 & '94 boats placed high. For the next race two "eights," composed of the top 16 oarsmen plus coxswains made the journey to Poughkeepsie N.Y. The varsity boat captured first place and the JV boat was second among all JV crews in the Head of the Hudson. The following week the 1V was the only shell to travel to Cambridge, MA for the world renown Head of the Charles. Complications during the race with the French National, Potomac Boat Club, and the MIT crews marred a solid race. The oarsmen finished the fall season on the X river in Philly with a 4th and 9th place finish.

As the dark ages enveloped USNA, the ltwt crew began their winter training. Early morning workouts were spent lifting weights, running, and rowing. The rowing consisted of "tank" sessions under mentor Hughes' watchful eye and rowing on a rower's best friend--the Comcept II Ergometer. The hours of practice quickly passed by and a warm winter allowed the Navy crew to "swing" on the Severn.

The Crawford Bay Classic was the first race of the Spring season. The 1V and 2V both took first place defeating Columbia and the Coast Guard Academy. Unfortunately this was the only race the Varsity would win for the rest of the season. The excitement however was delivered by the second boat who posted wins over Columbia and Penn in Navy's dual races. The spring season ended at the Eastern Sprints in Worscter, MA. Disappointingly both Navy crews failed to make the grand finals with the 1V losing out by 2 seconds to Dartmouth, Yale, and Harvard in the heats.

The 92-93 season should bring better results than the previous as the ltwt crew has 14 returning lettermen. This much returning experience, with a strong third boat, which won races against Penn's JV, Harvard, and placed second at the Eastern Springs, along with a very strong '95 crew should prove fruitful.Good Luck, Row Hard, Row Fast, Row Navy. Women's Crew

Navy's varsity eight had its best-ever performance when it placed first at the 54th Dad Vail Crew Regatta, the east coast's largest regatta. The second varsity was also first as the Midshipmen won the Seitz Trophy for overall team performance by women's crews at this regatta for the sixth consecutive year.

In other regattas this spring, the Mids were second at the Crawford Bay Classic and first at the George Washington Invitational.

Golf

The 1991-92 season new head coach, Pat Owen, lead the Navy golf team in his first full season. The team responded positively to the change with a successful season. Despite a loss to a strong Army team, 388-376, the Navy golfers played well all season. In addition to a new coach, the team faced the challenge of transition from the Colonial Athletic Association to the Patriot League. Navy played well in the new conference, placing third in the conference championships. To end the season, the team had a strong showing at the Eastern District (Division I, NCAA) Championships, placing eighth.

The team was led all season by the outstanding play of senior J.D. Rios. Rios, compiled a stroke average of 76.75, posting only one round above 80. Senior Captain James D'Alessandro had a season stroke average of 78.74, and shared all-conference honors with Rios, as they both placed top ten at the Patriot Championships. In addition, D'Alessandro gained all-district distinction with a third place finish at the Eastern District tournament. Strong seasons were also turned in by sophomore Michael Gullion, stroke average of 79.94, Junior Rick David, stroke average of 81.10, and sophomore Bob Dudley, who fired a season low round of 73 at the final round of the Easterns. Next year's squad looks extremely strong as sophomores Goddard Hampton, Mark Christenson, Mark Perrault, Craig Abraham, and plebe Brad Artery hope to round out a competitive roster.

Men's Lacrosse

After dropping their first two games of the season the Navy Lacrosse team turned a few heads in the lacrosse world by winning eight of its next 10 games to receive a bid to the NCAA Championships for the first time since 1989.

Coach Bryan Matthews' squad finished the year with an 8-5 record after falling to Yale, 9-3, in the NCAA First Round held in Annapolis. The young squad registered the most wins since 1989 (8) while recording upsets over Duke (11-8), Maryland (11-3), and Towson State (12-2).

Goalie Kevin Farrington received second team All-America honors after a spectacular season in the cage. The second classman recorded a .650 save percentage, a 7.08 goals against average, and a record-tying 27-save performance in the win against Maryland.

Youngster Jamie Slough earned honorable mention All-America honors as a midfielder and in the process became the Academy's only two-sport All-American after earning a first team spot in squash during the winter season. Slough led the Navy midfielders in scoring with 30 points (26 goals, 4 assists). The young gun frustrated opponent's defenders by scoring at least one goal in 12 of Navy's 13 games. Firstie captain Sean Donnelly was selected to play in the North-South All-Star game.

Women's Lacrosse

In its third year, the 1991-1992 Women's Lacrosse team had another successful season. With new equipment and many new and returning members, the team started its Saturday morning and Sunday and Monday night practice schedule in October. The new members learned the basic skills of catching, throwing and cradeling, while the returning members refined their skills. In March the team helped the U.S. Women's Lacrosse Association sponsor their annual lacrosse clinic during its National Clinic Day. The official season started with a round robin tournament against the University of Dayton, Loyola Club, and George Mason. The team then left for its first road trip to play Army during the Army-Navy spring sports weekend at West Point. The season continued with games against Villa Julie and Saint Mary's and concluded with an end of the season picnic after the final game against Mount Saint Mary's.

The '91-'92 team was coached by Ann Wallace, with help from Carol Greene and Kathy Herrick. The team captain was Midshipman 1/C Cheryl Herrick, the founder of the team in 1989. The team was supported by many parents and loyal fans who not only cheered for the members but helped line the fields in emergencies. The team hopes for continued success and support next season.

Men's Tennis

The Navy tennis team had a successful season, however, they closed out on a downer, losing to Army 6-3, the first loss to the Cadets in 23 years, and then coming in second at the Patriot League Championships behind the Cadets. In the dual against Army, the match was knotted at 3-3 after the singles, but the Cadets won all three doubles matches to take the victory.

At the Patriot League Championships, firstie Wayne Jang won the individual singles at number two, youngster Frank Bronson won at three and Plebe Quinn Fionda won at six.

Top individual records for the year were: first classman Chris Thompson, 11-13 at one; Jang, 17-8 at two; second class Efren Mojica, 13-9 at three; and Bronson, 16-8 at four.

Rugby

The Navy Rugby team set the standard for achievement in the 1991 fall season. The "A" side reclaimed the Potomac Rugby Union title with a 4-0-1 conference record. The A's then went on to give a rugby clinic at the Mid-Atlantic tournament beating Virginia Tech 34-4 and Mary Washington 26-12. Navy could not overcome the home field advantage of LSU and lost 13-7 in the Eastern Championships. The future looks bright for the "B" team which was 13-1-0 with their only loss at the hands of national power Air Force A's.

After the season several players were awarded for their performances in the regular schedule. Six players were selected to the P.R.U. all conference team and four made the combined services all-star team.

Men's Track & Field

The men's outdoor track team won the Heptagonals Games Association Outdoor Track Championship for the second straight year by compiling 126 1/2 points and posting seven first places. Second classman Brian Proctor won the 100 meters (10.41) and 200 meters (21.13) in school record times and was on the winning 4x100 meter relay unit. It was the second straight year he has won both dashes at the Heps.

First classman John Fox won the 400 meters and anchored the 4x400 meter relay to a first place with a dramatic finish. Second classman Lucas Kurley won the long jump (24-9 1/4) while youngster Joel Robertson took the triple jump (49-9 3/4).

This was Navy's fourth conference championship in track in the past two years. The Mids also won the Heptagonals Indoor title this year and the Colonial Athletic Association Track and Field Championship a year ago.

Second classman Greg Keller earned All-American honors when he finished fifth as the 12th best qualifying time in the trials. Keller was an All-American in indoor track when he was sixth in the mile run at the NCAA Indoors.

First classman Matt Bogdan, a hurdler, was selected as an NCAA District II At-Large Academic All-America.

Women's Track & Field

Captain Rachelle Smith capped her collegiate career off with her fourth straight win ataintst Army in the javelin -- despite knee surgery -- but it wasn't enough as Army won the meet, 93-61. The season was highlighted by school record performances set by youngster Jenna Hausvik and firstie Susie Stewart.

Hausvik, a dual-sport athlete that is a starting forward for the woman's basketball team, set a USNA record in the heptatholon with 4,359 points the Penn Relays. She also set a Navy standard in the high jump with a 5-6 leap at the Georgetown Invitational -- the Mids finished fifth of six teams in the meet.

Navy finished ninth in the Heptagonals, but nine of the ten performers that placed were underclassmen and will return for coach Carla Criste.

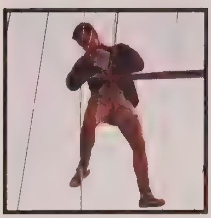
Offshore Sailing



The Navy varsity offshore team had a particularly fine year. The team has become a powerhouse on the East Coast and will remain so for some time. According to the team captain, "There was a lot of desire on the team this year. We always had talent on the team, but this year there was a lot more focus and concentration."

The Navy offshore sailing team trains very hard to perfect the skills required to serve in every position from foredeck to after guard on a competitive racing sailboat. Not only do they practice racing skills, but they also learn the teamwork concept and gain valuable leadership skills.

The offshore sailing team competes in events such as the Newport to Bermuda race, the Annapolis to Newport Race, the Marblehead to Halifax Race, and the Storm Trysail Club's Block Island Race Week. Probably the most significant race of this past year, however, was the Lloyd Phoenix, the USSA National Offshore Championship regatta. In that regatta, the Thunderbolt team placed second in a very competitive field.

Sailing

The intercollegiate sailing team continued to earn its number one national ranking during the 1992 season. After capping off the 1991 season by sweeping nationals at Tulane the team continued to display its complete dominance. The fall was highlighted by the drive to nationals. An unprecedented six Navy sailors were sent to Maisas, of which two qualified for nationals at Newport Beach, California. 2/c Brad Rodi proved his All-american status by coming from behind to win the regatta, in the last race, while in an unfamiliar class of boat. 3/c Mark Schneider also finished strongly in the top ten. Another highlight of the fall was 1/c Willie Graves campaign for sloop nationals held at Coast Guard. He finished third, providing Navy with one of its best finishes at sloop nationals in the last five years.

The Spring season didn't let up with a focused drive towards nationals at Charleston, South Carolina. Along the way, the best team in the utilized all its team members to maintain a number one ranking while one again dominating regatta after regatta. A repeat at nationals is easily within the grasp of these talented and hardworking mids.

Cycling

Sporting a new look with navy blue and gold jerseys designed by team members Eric Jordan and Chris Duffy, the cycling team once again proved themselves by bridging the gap between opportunity and ability. Leading the team was its captain, Dan Stimpson, along with Chris Duffy as vice-president, Bill Wiseman as Treasurer, and Dave Mundy in the office of Secretary.

In the annual Army/Navy "War on Wheels," USNA prevailed over the military academy capturing four out of the first five spots in the men's race and three of the top four in the women's. Cadet Al Pepper, on exchange from West Point was tenacious in his attack on his fellow Army classmates, as he valiantly raced for the Navy blue and gold (Go Navy! Beat Army!)

Working hard to earn money for their spring break trip to the Walden School of Cycling in Orlando, FL, the team coined its motto "We rule . . . !" on several hundred t-shirts enabling them to enjoy a successful week training with the Wolverines Sports Club.

In her first year of cycling, Cheryl Herrick proved natural talent by capturing first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference and went on to a successful finish at the National Collegiate Cycling Championship. Dan Stimpson, Eric Jordan, Chris Duffy, Greg Peterson, Demian Bailey, and Dave Mundy represented USNA at this competition. As a culmination of the year, Navy focused on the team time trial and finished thirteenth in the nation. In the fifty mile criterium, in Georgia's 95 degree heat, both Stimpson and Duffy raced well.

In determination and dedication, the cycling team deserves credit for completing a successful season. USNA has every reason to feel proud of its Navy cyclists.

Judo and Karate

Karate Club

The 1991-92 Karate Club had a successful season despite many setbacks that had to be overcome. The Karate Club was able to participate in three tournaments, including hosting one. In the fall semester the Karate Club attended and did very well at a tournament hosted by Catholic University, sending four five men squads and winning first place. The club brought back many other trophies throughout the year in both areas, kata and fighting.

The diverse background of the midshipmen enabled the members to acquire a wealth of knowledge about the various martial arts and improve their skills. The Club enables its members to improve their athletic and mental skills through its philosophy. Next year the club plans to, besides hosting one tournament, compete in at least two tournaments per semester.

Judo Club

This year's judo team showed another strong season. Opening the '91-'92 season with a 1st place team at the Maryland State Promotionals, foreshadowed another great year. At the Maryland State Championships, 2/c Jack Ewing and team captain 1/c Tak Nakazawa took 1st and qualified for nationals. This was Tak's fourth consecutive year as Maryland state champion. Unfortunately, a shoulder injury finished his season. Atlantic Coast Regionals were hosted by Army. Navy came away with two 1st, three 2nd, and four 3rd places. Overall the team came in 2nd out of over 15 schools. New-comer 2/c Damian Bridges showed a promising future when he placed 2nd, losing only to Army's team captain by a decision. Outstanding Navy competitor was 1/c Rudy Hobson who entered 2 divisions. He placed 1st and 2nd with an impressive 10-1 record for the day. The dual meet against Army was disappointing. Only 2/c Mario Montalvo beat his opponent. The team turned around and crushed Army Prep 4-1. At the Maryland Shufu open, Navy came away with another 1st. The team finished the year sending 4 to nationals. Next year looks even better.

Navy Ultimate

The sport of Ultimate is gaining popularity nationally as well as here at the Naval Academy. The team here at the Academy is unique because the players, and others, give up most of their free time both during the week and on weekends to practice and compete in what is still an ECA sport. The team's accomplishments are even more commendable when one considers that team members also have to play intramural sports and thus cannot devote all of their workout time to Ultimate. Every night, a message can be found on the company boards that say, "Ultimate practice on Dewey field at 1900." This is even after drill and lectures.

This year Navy Ultimate had its best finish ever, placing third in the region. The team travelled to several colleges including Penn State, University of Virginia, Wilmington, and East Carolina University to compete in tournaments. The regional tournament was held at Princeton where Navy lost to East Carolina in the 2nd and 3rd place game. This was the first year that only two teams from the region could compete in the national tournament. With a strong returning squad, however, next year looks very promisting.

Extra-curricular activities play a vital role in midshipmen's lives. Many of them provide us with entertainment while others focus on community service. Whatever the purpose, all ECA's provide midshipmen with means to broaden their horizons.

A YEAR OF Changes

Class of 1992

As the Class of '92 prepares to make its mark in the world, your class officers want to remind you of some of the things that we will leave behind. From the beginning, the Class of '92 got off to a memorable start. The record temperatures combined with the "chopmaster" made for the hottest and hardest plebe summer ever. After storming 8th wing, we were all exhausted, so we slept through youngster year, but woke up in time for 2 for 7 night. Firstie year we struggled through a difficult football season, but spirits were kept high at the class sponsored tailgaters. Army week was a success with the capture of the Corps Commander and the Army mules, topped off with a crushing victory over Army. We had service selection night and restriction. And we were the first class ever to have year long Cinderella libs. Have fun next year with TQL. Fair winds and following seas. Check 6 and 24. Splice the main brace!!!!!

Class of 1993

Well, the infamous Class of 1993, what can be said of us. Our 2/c year began with the fun of 2/c summer. After enduring the lengthy lectures and circumnavigating the globe in search of professional development, we returned anxious to relay some freshly gained knowledge to the new 4/c, only to take a Plebe Training Test. Not only were we the first class to not have a 2 for 7 night, but we were the last class to have ACTRAMID, celestial navigation, required differential equations, and many other major-specific courses. After the disastrous service selection night this year, many wonder if we will be allowed to even choose our path, or perhaps it will be randomly assigned by the computer, like CSTS and YP cruises were for our 1/c cruise. In any case, all our worries were over with finals and the fun began with commissioning week and the arrival of the long awaited Ring Dance.

Class of 1994

Last year, we thought we would never climb Herndon, let alone twice, but now one year and 27,594 demerits later, here we are. With CQPRs imitating the futures market, no one is sure where they'll be on service selection night: Will my Marine Corps fantasies dissolve like cigar smoke into the high frequency lighting of Bancroft Hall? And remember, as the good lieutenant said, "there may not be a SWO billet waiting for you if you're at the bottom of your class." As so sanquinly forecast by the Supe and Alumni-solicitation pamphlets, the Brigade/Alumni Activities Bob Hope Performing Arts Gratis Memorial Center has truly become a gravitating force that allows the whole brigade to sleep together at least once every two months. With the demise of the USSR, the last plank in the Wilson-Sprude campaign platform has been completed, thus an era comes to a close. On the economic front, Chris Williams and Scott Hornbuckle have guaranteed the economic security of '94 through T-shirt sales, junk bonds, and laundering schemes. (How do they do it? Tut Tut. ancient Keatting secret.) All in all, the youngster officers hope '94 enjoyed the experience as much as we have

Ring and Crest Committee

The Ring and Crest Committee is comprised of those midshipmen who create, design, and finally implement their respective class crests. Beginning plebe year, a group of plebes representing each company in the Brigade gather together to come up with ideas for the class crest. Working with the upperclass on the committee and the advisors from the ring company, a final design is produced. Once produced, the Ring and Crest Committee is responsible for the bidding, selection, and final production of the respective class rings. These rings are cherished by the graduating midshipmen, as it symbolizes all that they have worked for and put up with to receive their commissions.

Brigade Social Affairs Committee

From the Plebe mixer to the Farewell Ball, the Brigade Social Affairs Committee is responsible for many of the social events at the Naval Academy. All of the formal and informal dances are planned and staffed by the Committee. One of the biggest responsibilities of the BSAC is to ensure that the Ring Dance is a success. In addition to the dances the Committee is responsible for the Army-Navy victory party and the concerts held in the Brigade Activities Center. The committee was instrumental in arranging the Steven Wright, Tesla/Firehouse, and theSmithereens/Connells concerts.

Midshipmen Community Service Correlation Board

This past year the Midshipmen Community Service Correlation Board has grown out of the Midshipmen Action Group. The MCSCB has altered its predecessor's purpose to allow for a smoother flow of information between the community and the brigade. The MCSCB now serves as a directing device that pairs interested midshipmen with projects throughout the community. Although in its infant stages, the MCSCB has been involved with Mids and Kids, Habitat for Humanity, Greenscape, the Special Olympics, several clean-up projects, and Blitz Day. With its new focus, the MCSCB will make it easier for midshipmen to give some time back to the community.

Chess Club

This year featured the return of the Chess Club to the United States Naval Academy. The Chess Club is composed of midshipmen of all levels of play who wish to play for fun, compete in tournaments, or simply learn to play the game. Members gather weekly to play a game or two and take a quick break from life in the hall. In addition to organizing into an ECA and securing equipment, highlights of the club's year included tournaments against West Point and the Air Force Academy for the Commander in Chief's Trophy, helping the Annapolis Chess Club to host the Annapolis Chess Open Tournament in April, and a fall and spring tournament among midshipmen of the Brigade. Next year the club plans to sponsor even more opportunities for interested midshipmen to play chess including two inner-brigade tournaments, the Commander in Chief's Tournament, a midshipmen vs. faculty tournament, as well as sending a team to the intercollegiate national finals.

Photography Club

The Photography Club is the only visual arts ECA at the academy. It maintains a full darkroom in Dahlgren Hall for the development, printing, and mounting of color and black and white film. Film is provided to members at a low cost and the use of the darkroom is provided for a minimal dues fee which covers all paper, chemicals, and mounting supplies. The club is maintained and run entirely by midshipmen experienced in the art of photography. These midshipmen provide lessons and instruction to the amateur photgraphers in the group. The pictures on these two pages, taken by Jeff Eggers, are representitive of those shot by the members of the Photography Club.

Debate Club

Our United States Naval Academy Debate Team held its practices in the heights of Sampson Hall, our tournaments at nearby coeducational institutions of higher learning. For the USNA Debate Team, the 1991-1992 year proved to be a season of travel and competition due to a financial wing and a prayer; much of our budget became a peace dividend. Naval Academy debaters participated in ten intercollegiate 'NDT Policy' tournaments and, thanks to John "The Terminator" Sharpe, won numerous team and individual speaker awards. We usually competed with colleges and universities in Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, but also tangled with the occasional out-of-town visitor from the New England Ivies. The team was comprised of members of all four classes who enjoy speaking, competing and travelling far and wide on the weekends. This year's was another growing team where the younger two classes formed three quarters of the competitors. This next generation will no doubt make 1992-1993 another successful year for Navy Debate.

Silent Drill Team

The United States Naval Academy Silent Precision Drill Team was founded in September, 1990 when fifteen midshipmen held a meeting, voted on a team commander, and set their first practice. Beginning as a relatively obscure extra-curricular activity, the team soon attracted larger numbers and began to be called upon to perform at Navy sporting events and at local functions in the Annapolis area. After capturing first place in the 1991 University of Maryland Drill Competition, the Drill Team was invited to Cherry Hill, NJ to march in the homecoming parade for LT. Jeffrey Zaun, USN, and other returning desert storm veterans from the Cherry Hill area. Since then, the team has gone to New Orleans to perform at the Navy-Tulane football game and to Texas A&M to compete. In action, the Silent Drill Team combines the basics of marching with the intricacy of spinning and throwing rifles. With its adaptation of both Navy and Marine Corps techniques, along with moves created by team members themselves, a very original style of drill is maintained. To quote a member of the U.S. Marine Corps Silent Drill Team from Marine Barracks, 8th & I after watching a performance, "It's kind of like ... not the same type of thing you see every day." The level of experience on the drill team varies from those who were on championship drill teams in high school to those who never picked up a rifle before Plebe Summer. Learning to spin rifles is the easy part; it's getting the timing down and learning to march as a team that is the most difficult. So the next time you see a bunch of mids drilling in WWB trousers and grey Navy sweatshirts, you'll know it's the United States Naval Academy Silent Precision Drill Team.

Cannoneers

The United States Naval Academy Cannoneers is the organization that can be seen at all Navy football games, the Army-Navy game, and at the Herndon ceremony. The resounding "BOOM!" that is heard throughout the stadium is what the Cannoneers provide. The cannon used by the Cannoneers is an 1863 Dahlgren boat howitzer, used in the Battle of Mobile Bay, which sunk with its ship in that famous battle. It was discovered and restored and then given to the Naval Academy. It is one of the few operational boat howitzers in existence. Using their cannon as its centerpiece, the Cannoneers can be found entertaining visiting cheerleaders and adding a little excitement for the Brigade.

Cheerleaders

This year the cheerleaders did it all by cheering at every football game, 150's game, men's and women's basketball, pep rallies, wrestling, and even an occasional appearance at a formal banquet with the Superintendent. No single group has done more or has had more fun. The cheerleaders endlessly stand before the brigade and keep the spirit high, and when necessary add a bit of entertainment to the sidelines. Hours of hard work payed off this year as the team made the first appearance of any military academy in the national cheerleading competition in Dallas, Texas. Fun and hard work go hand in hand for the Naval Academy cheerleaders. With the continued support of the brigade, next year the cheerleaders plan to bring home the national title as the best cheerleading team in the country.

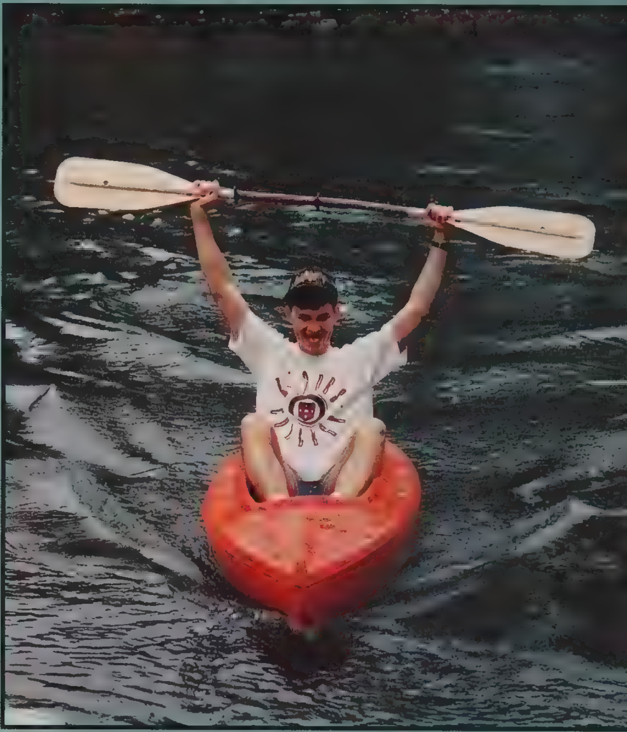
Officers' Christian Fellowship

The Officers' Christian Fellowship is a national organization made up of Christians from all branches of the military and united by a vision of reaching the armed services for Jesus Christ. Midshipmen and civilians involved in OCF gather regularly on Monday nights to sing, fellowship, and learn more about their relationship with Jesus. Over the Labor Day and Martin Luther King Jr. weekends, OCF midshipmen can get away to White Sulphur Springs, OCF's conference center in Pennsylvania's Allegheny mountains. A leadership conference there, over President's Day weekend, give midshipmen the tools needed to serve as Christian leaders in the fleet. Walk Through The Bible, Army-Navy Banquet, Danny Byram Concert, and the Graduation Banquet are some other events enjoyed by midshipmen. The Marantha Mansion, on Maryland Avenue, is the center of activities for OCF at the Naval Academy. "The Mansion," as it is affectionately known, is the home of Cal and Linda Dunlap, OCF staff here at the Naval Academy. Cal and Linda open up their home every Saturday night for food, fun, and fellowship. Lt. Chris Williams, 9th Company Officer, serves as the OCF's officer representative. Cal, Linda, and the officer ministry team help midshipmen to become officers who are morally and spiritually prepared to be leaders in the Navy and Marine Corps.



Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union is a religious ECA comprised of varous denominations but is sponsored by local Baptist churches and the Southern Baptist Convention. The BSU meets on Monday nights in the Mitscher convference room in order to hear various speakers and to discuss a variety of topics. The BSU hosts after-game fellowships on the Saturdays of each home football game, conducts Bible study sessions, goes on a midwinter retreat, sponsors a Talent/Untalent Banquet each spring to raise money for missions, conducts a mission project during End of Semester leave, and engages in other activites throughout the year.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, FCA, is an interdenominational group seeking to share Jesus Christ with the brigade through a common interest in athletics. Our theme for this year was taken from Romans 12:1 which states “therefore, I urge your brothers, in view of God’s mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing unto god - this is your spiritual act of worship. Speakers for the year included: Penny Hoeflinger, a former witch who now runs a ministry for women; Steve Fitzhugh, a former Denver Bronco who is now working with inner-city youth in the Washington D.C. area; and Gene Neil, a former marine, lawyer, and convict who since becoming a Christian has started world wide prison ministries. For relaxation the group has participated in cartoon nights at CAPT Spofford’s house as well as sponsoring a Christian ECA picnic in the spring. Most of all, we were able to have a blast while learning to be sacrifices for Christ.

Navigators

The purpose of the Navigators is to help individual midshipmen grow in their relationship with Jesus Christ. Additionally, we exercise our faith by helping those around us better know Christ. Mike (’78) and Dana Kozlarek and Jim (’77) and Cindy Gassaway provide guidance and leadership as full time staff. Our theme this year was “heart for God, heart for people” as we explored God’s infinite love for us and how it should affect our daily lives. We spent time in small group Bible studies delving into God’s word. we also met daily in the Steerage after lunch to pray. We gathered together about once a month to praise and worship our awesome God with song and prayer. Retreats over some long weekends provided some opportunities to sing songs, hear great speakers, and meet together in fellowship. The year came to an end with a spring break ski trip to Colorado, followed by a canoe trip to West Virginia during end of semester leave, and capped off with the graduation banquet for the class of 1992. Our vision is to see midshipman graduate who have developed a strong, solid faith in Christ and are equipped to share that faith with others for a lifetime.

Jewish Midshipmen Club

The Jewish Midshipmen Club began the '91-'92 year with the annual trip to Israel. The trip is designed for non-Jewish members of the brigade as well as the JMC members. The year was full of festive events as well as serious events. The Jewish midshipmen looked forward each week to Friday services where they could enjoy the Oneg and relax with friends. The JMC sponsored events such as the Hanukkah Happening, the presentation of the Israeli Defense Attache to the brigade, and the annual Passover Seder. On a more serious note, the JMC sponsored a holocaust memorial where we remembered those who perished in the WWII concentration camps. The club also hosted conventions of rabbis and Israeli war veterans during their visits. "Project Healing" let some of us go out in town and help repair and paint a shelter in November. The JMC would also like to thank Rabbi Slomovitz for all that he has given to the Jewish midshipmen since his arrival. He has been an inspiration, a friend, and a guide.

JMC: (L-R) Michael Roth, Michael Schoffman, David Zimmerman, President.

Latter Day Saint Student Association

The U.S. Naval Academy chapter of the Latter Day Saint Student Association is composed of those members of the Brigade of Midshipmen interested in fellowship and in learning about the doctrine of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Its membership is open both to Mormons and anyone professing an interest in Mormon beliefs. The LDSSA fulfilled its goals of strengthening the testimonies of Mormon midshipmen, providing support for both Latter Day Saints and non-Latter Day Saints midshipmen, and educating investigators through a variety of activities. These included weekly institute classes on the book of Mormon and the Holy Bible, trips to the Washington D.C. temple, and numerous social events.

Protestant Midshipmen Club

The Protestant Midshipmen Club is an interdenominational club which focuses on Christian service and fellowship within the Naval Academy and in the surrounding community. This years activities included several visits to local nursing homes, service to the chaplains, and several movie/pizza fellowship times. In March, the scope of the Protestant Midshipmen Club's responsibilities was greatly increased with the start of the Gospel Contemporary Services which are organized under club direction. This year's officers included Mark McCulloch, president; Chad Reed, vice president; and Mark Ekhert, treasurer.

Catholic Midshipmen Club

Under presidents Tom Crimmins and Paul Mulligan, vice-president Greg Gilland, treasurer Eric Saddler, secretary Dave Jasso, and battalion chairman Chris Middleton, the Catholic Midshipmen Club had a most successful year in '91-'92. Different activities included meetings with notable guest speakers, two retreats, two parish socials, a trip to Rome over spring leave, assisting the Washington Share Program monthly (a program of food distribution to the needy), assisting Birthright (an organization that offers assistance to young, single, pregnant women), and visiting the elderly at the Annapolis Convalescent Center weekly. Further, the year also saw nightly prayer sessions and a large increase in daily mass attendance. The Catholic Community as a whole experienced much growth this year, due, in part, to the Catholic Midshipmen Club. Ex Primariis, Valete!

Catholic Chapel Choir

An American bishop at Saint Peter's Cathedral in Rome once said, "when a person sings well at church, his prayers are multiplied two-fold." And this, in a sense, is what the Catholic Choir does. The choir leads the congregation in song at the 0900 Catholic Mass every Sunday morning at the main chapel at the Academy, adding music to the worship of God at mass. Besides leading Hymns and Psalms, the choir also performs a wide variety of anthems and motets from its repertoire. In addition, the choir represents the Naval Academy at liturgical services abroad: this year, the choir sang the annual mass for the Military Sea services at the Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton shrine in Emmittsburg, MD; also, the choir made its annual appearance and performance at the Cathedral of Saint Patrick in New York City. Through song and fellowship, the choir adds to the spirituality of the Catholic Community at the Naval Academy. Good luck, and many thanks to Derek and Amy for a great year!

Protestant Chapel Choir

The Naval Academy's Protestant Chapel Choir is made up of about fifty midshipmen who committed themselves to sharing the musical talents the Lord has given them with the Naval Academy's Protestant Chapel family. The Protestant Chapel Choir is directed by Dr. John B. Talley. Under Dr. Talley's direction, the choir is able to fully utilize the talents that God has given each of its members. In addition to providing beautiful music for the congregation, the choir also provides leadership which helps the congregation remain focused on the presence of God. This year the choir made trips to the Eastern Shore Chapel in Virginia Beach and Governor's Island in New York. These trips allow the choir to spread Christ's message in song to a larger group of Christians and also enables the choir to master much of the music that it will perform through much of the semester. The members of the Protestant Chapel Choir work very hard and sacrifice important time, but it is far outweighed by the sacrifice that Christ has endured for its members. It is a pleasure to have the opportunity to give something back to the Lord.

Gospel Choir

The United States Naval Academy Gospel Choir is a unique and vibrant extracurricular activity -- it enhances an awareness of the cultural heritage of a rather significant form of musical expression in this country.

The Gospel Choir was formed in the fall of 1985, and made its debut at the 1986 Martin Luther King, Jr., Memorial Service at the U.S. Naval Academy Chapel. The group was received so well that they were invited to sing at Vassar College. That first trip launched the choir on its way to the success it enjoys today.

Women's Glee Club

The United States Naval Academy Women's Glee Club has grown in numbers and in reputation through the past few years. Approximately sixty women participate under the dirction of Mrs. Jeanne Kelly touring nationwide and entertaining a wide range of audiences. The club's repertoire includes patriotic songs, spiritual hymns, classic pieces, folk songs, and popular broadway hits appealing to all ages. The women's specialty group, the telltales, in their poodle skirts, letter sweaters, and bobby socks, charm audiences with their music from the fifties and sixties. The women's glee club has performed at many high schools, churches, and special events, traveling to Charleston, New York, West Point, and the Citadel. Some of the highlights of the year include performing at the Kennedy Center Honors, NBC's Christmas in Washington including a special performance with Vince Gill, Handel's Messiah, Carl Orff's Carmina Burana, and the dedication of the Bob Hope Performing Arts Center.

Men's Glee Club

The United States Naval Academy Men's Glee Club, with a professional reputation for versatility and showmanship, has gained national recognition touring throughout the United States and performing for a wide range of audiences, from high schools and public concerts to network television. With a repertoire designed to appeal to all age levels and a variety of musical tastes, including sea chanties, folk songs, classics, and popular tunes, the group of over 80 midshipmen is under the direction of the Naval Academy's Director of Musical Activities, Dr. John Barry Talley. Three specialty groups within the Glee Club, the Barbershop Quartet, Folk Trio, and a 1950's style rock`n roll troupe round out the versatile performance of the Academy singers. The trio plays contemporary music for easy listening enjoyment. The quartet, sporting red arm garters and straw boaters, recalls the gay Ninties era with old-fasioned harmonizing. The rock singers, a Naval Academy version of "Sha-Na-Na," never fails to bring smiles from the audience. The glee club has performed in concert halls, churches, and high schools and has been featured in recent network television productions including NBC's Today Show, Good Morning America, the Kennedy Center Honors, and Christmas in Washington from the old Pension Building.

Glee Club Musical: "Hello Dolly!"

The Glee Club Musical, in keeping with a long standing tradition of performing arts excellence, produced the classic American musical "Hello, Dolly!," and what a success! The over eighty midshipmen involved in the production began work in the fall and diligently dedicated much time and effort into a production that is one of the largest ever produced at the Naval Academy in history. Hard work is its own reward, as they say, and the year-round efforts of a hard-working production staff made all the theatre magic possible. Directed by Dr. David White and Dr. John Barry Talley, the musical made its debut in the Bob Hope Performing Arts Center as the first midshipmen production ever in the new facility. Veteran choreographer Penny Evans returned to the midshipmen once more to try and make dancers out of athletes, and succeeded in staging some of the most clever and sophisticated dances seen in years. As always, the musical was tremendously popular and a thorough success. The Glee Club Musical members should be proud of their record of success, and we are all left wondering: What they will do next year?

Masqueraders: "Arms and the Man"

The Masqueraders is the oldest extra-curricular activity at the Naval Academy dating back to 1849. Members of the group participate in every aspect of theatrical production, not only acting, but directing, producing, designing and building sets, running lights and sound, organizing ticket sales, advertising, and printing of their own playbill. This year the Masqueraders, under their new director Anne-Marie Drew, presented George Bernard Shaw's romantic comedy, Arms and the Man. In addition to the traditional fall production, the Masqueraders co-sponsored the 1st Annual Midshipman Playwriting Contest. The winning entries from this contest were performed by the Masqueraders in the spring, but unlike the fall production, these plays were directed and produced entirely and exclusively by the midshipmen. The Masqueraders again continued in their highly successful tradition of offering talented and dedicated midshipmen an outlet for their creativity while bringing their own special flare to culture within the Brigade of Midshipmen.

Drum & Bugle Corps

First appearing in 1914 at the Navy - St. John's college baseball game, the United States Naval Academy Drum and Bugle Corps is the oldest continually active drum and bugle corps in the world, as well as the largest brigade support activity. Today the Corps fields over fifty horns, twenty percussion, and fourteen colorguard. The midshipmen in the corps plan and run all corps activities, with musical assistance from a new director and from the USNA band. Members of the corps spend many hours rehearsing for their performances at every football game. The D & B also competes in the Inter-Service Academy Drum and Bugle Corps Competition. For the second year in a row, the midshipmen triumphed over Air Force and Coast Guard, keeping the trophy in Annapolis, where it belongs. Corps members are confident of an historical "three-peat" next year. Other highlights of the fall season included the Severna Park Invitational and trips to Philadelphia, Charlottesville, VA, Notre Dame, and New Orleans. The D & B continues to pep up the brigade during the dark ages, performing at most home basketball games. Spring brings with it the concert season, with the traditional performances in Baltimore, Harrisburg, PA, and a special tour destination.

Trident Brass

The Trident Brass is a jazz ensemble whose purpose is to provide talented midshipmen with an organization in which to rehearse and perform jazz. They perform at several Brigade activities throughout the year, including basketball games, the International Ball, and Herndon, as well as concerts in downtown Annapolis.

Korean-American Midshipmen Association

The purpose of the Korean-American Midshipmen Association is to promote the common interests of the members based on their similar ethnic backgrounds and interests. The club itself is open to the Brigade of Midshipmen, which provides an opportunity for all midshipmen to learn about the Korean-American culture as well as history. Each year, we attend various ethnic festivals as well as banquets to provide the members with a taste and experience of ethnic and cultural diversities in the neighboring communities. In addition, we attend two nationally recognized conferences: Korean-American Student Conference (KASCON), and the Conference of Smith College. These conferences enhance the leadership potential of the members within the Korean-American community and brings awareness to minority involvement in the armed forces. This year, the club also took a trip to the Korean Embassy in Washington D.C. in order establish ties with other organizations and clubs with the similar focus. The Korean-American Midshipmen Association will continue to strive for education and give midshipmen a positive image of the Korean-American community and a better understanding of cultural diversity.

Filipino-American Club

The Filipino-American Club, otherwise known as Barkada, gives the brigade a chance to learn about the culture, traditions, and the lifestyle of the Philippines. It mainly serves as a support group for Filipino midshipmen. At the bi-weekly meetings, Filipino culture and current Philippine events are discussed. During the year, the club holds skating parties and tailgaters at football games for its members and their sponsors. The club holds an annual banquet during commissioning week recognizing the parents of the graduating class and the member's sponsors. Each spring the club holds a cultural retreat and opens it up to similar clubs from local colleges. The club also tries to attend cultural events at other colleges. Barkada also works closely with the Filipino Associations of Anne Arundel and Washington D.C. Each summer members of the club serve as escorts in the Miss Philippines beauty pageants held in Virginia Beach, VA, and Washington D.C. Locally, the members serve as role models for Filipino kids.

Latin American Studies Club

In its second year of existence, the Latin American Studies Club has encouraged Hispanic cultural awareness through numerous activities. Some of these activities include trips to the National Gallery of Art and the Mexican Cultural Institute, guest speakers, and "fiestas." The club serves both as an academic and support mechanism for the brigade's Hispanic community. The work of club president, Pepe Porrata, did not go unnoticed, while the club's administrative work was handled by Juan Falck and Manny Burga. Professor Masterson served as our link with academia while LT Gonzalez aided the club in its dealings with Bancroft.

Japanese-American Club

The Japanese-American Club was founded through hard work and determination in order to promote and stimulate interest in the Japanese culture. Being its first year, a big ball of inertia had to be moved and a precedent had to be set for future club activities. The Japanese-American club, for its first activity, planned and participated in a visit to the Japanese embassy in Washington, D.C., with the help of LCDR Enokuchi, the Japanese foreign exchange officer here at the academy. The club also interacted with the Washington chapter of the JACL, the Japanese-American Citizen League, and was introduced to Americans who were interned during World War II. Needless to say it opened many eyes. VADM Kihune, the Assistant CNO for Surface Warfare, was scheduled to speak at the club dinner, but due to circumstances was not able to make it. However, the club did get a chance to listen to the Honorable William Houston and Mr. Okura on topics that would greatly interest everyone including Japanese-Americans. This first year for the Japanese-American club was a great success and the interest level it sparked showed in its members' enthusiasm.

International Midshipmen Club

The International Midshipmen Club (IMC) is an organization that brings together all the foreign national midshipmen at the Naval Academy. It was primarily established to provide a frame in which foreign midshipmen can meet with their fellow foreign shipmates. One of the functions of this organization is to help incoming foreign plebes adjust to the new lifestyle at the Academy and the new experience of American culture. It also provides a mutual support group for every single foreign national.

Members of the club meet on different occasions for luncheons, scheduled sporting events, or discussions of upcoming events. These activities were first made possible by the support of a very distinguished and dedicated individual, Professor Voros, to whom the IMC largely owes its existence.

We, the foreign nationals at USNA, believe in our mission as representatives of our own countries and are aware of our duty to communicate and exchange knowledge and culture among ourselves as well as with our fellow American shipmates. We all hope that this club will serve as a strong contributing factor to better understand international relations in a new emerging world order.

Black Studies Club

The midshipmen's Black Studies Club flourished in 1991-1992. Lectures were held by several prominent black Americans: first black Naval Academy graduate - CDR Wesley A. Brown, USN Ret; first black general in the Marine Corps - LTGEN Frank Peterson, USMC Ret; highest ranking black active duty flag officer - VADM John Paul Reason, USN - Commander Surface Atlantic Fleet. The fall sponsor picnic and spring banquet were initiated this year. The club also assisted in the food collection for the homeless over Thanksgiving. This year, the club sponsored practical seminars by the National Naval Officer's Association concerning performance, conduct and finances. The staff of the club would like to wish the First Class good luck, fair winds, and following seas.

International Club

The International Club is an organization which acts as a means of representing and coordinating the various foreign language clubs at the Naval Academy. The International Club is composed of members of the Russian, French, Chinese, Spanish, and German clubs, as well as midshipmen from foreign countries. Each year, this club sponsors the International Ball, inviting foreign dignitaries from Washington D.C. and their families to attend. In preparation for this event, ballroom dancing lessons are offered to the Brigade. Some of the midshipmen do an exhibition dance at the Ball to the music of the Trident Brass. The evening is always enjoyed by all who attend.

National Eagle Scout Association

With over 300 members, the National Eagle Scout Association chapter at the United States Naval Academy reached a major milestone last year. Each year, NESA hosts a number of boy scouts from all around the East Coast at the annual merit badge jamboree. Last year, over 800 scouts attended this conference.

Other highlights from last year include a dining-in in which Retired Admiral Trost, former CNO of the U.S. Navy, was the guest speaker. Also, members have gone on numerous camping trips and have hosted a number of visiting Boy Scout troops as they visisted the Naval Academy. To top all of this off, approximately ten midshipmen were sent to Philmont boy Scout Ranch in New Mexico to be park rangers.

If there were any sayings that would apply to all of the members of NESA, they would be: "To Do a Good Turn Daily" and "To Always Do My Best!"

NESA: (L-R) Sitting, Jason Faunce, Troy White. President.

Combat Pistol Team

The USNA Combat Pistol Team is geared to the development of small-arms combat technique. Our goal is to develop the sport of practical shooting at the Naval Academy. Practical shooting is being able to not only put your shots on target accurately, but with speed and power. A course of fire is a "problem" that the shooter must solve with physical as well as mental ability. Courses of fire can and do contain shooter movement, partially hidden targets, as well as moving and stationary targets. The goal of the shooter is to solve the course of fire as quickly and as acurately as possible. The team trains and competes with government issue M1911 .45 caliber pistols and competes in matches in Maryland, Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

High Power Rifle Team

The Naval Academy High Power Rifle Team provides midshipmen of all classes the opportunity to develop their marksmanship skills with the M-14 service rifle. In addition to practice sessions held at the Naval Station's 200-yard rifle range, the team competes regularly against civilian and military teams at the 600-yard range in Bridgeville, Delaware. The members shoot from standing, rapid-fire prone, and rapid-fire squatting positions and are able to compete on an individual basis as well. The highlight of the shooting season, however, comes each summer when the USNA High Power Rifle Team competes at the annual Fleet Matches at NAS Dam Neck, Virginia, the Interservice Rifle Matches at MCB Quantico, Virginia, and Camp Perry, Ohio.

Trap and Skeet Club

The United States Naval Academy's Trap and Skeet Club made its debut this year. Trap and Skeet is that sport which has derived from the ancient practice of shooting doves and pigeons. In the spirit of modern competition, the competitors shoot shotguns at flying manmade clay pigeons known as skeets. Accuracy is the name of the game here. Despite a short existence, the club did rather well in some of the competitions they attended. However, the team was rather disappointed when their young shooting prodigy, Jay Schnelle, was unable to attend (and therefore win) the national competition. Even with this severe setback, the fledgling team remains confident of their chances of winning the national title in the near future.

Yard Patrol Squadron

The Yard Patrol Squadron is the Seamanship and Navigation Department's professional ECA. Its purpose is to expound on the fundamentals of seamanship and to provide motivated midshipmen the opportunity to hone their leadership skills in a shipboard environment. Using the 108 foot Yard Patrol craft, the YP Squadron conducts operations on the Severn River and the Chesapeake Bay. The YP Squadron is entirely run by its first and second class midshipmen stripers who change each academic semester. The YP squadron operates twice weekly and conducts three weekend trips to various places such as Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Norfolk, as well as sponsoring the Naval Academy Shiphandling Competition. Midshipmen are given the opportunity to fulfill the Personal Qualification System (PQS) requirements for Officer In Charge (OINC) of a small craft. Upon designation as a YP Squadron Commanding Officer, the qualified midshipmen may wear the Small Craft Pin and continue to qualify as an Enlisted Surface Warfare Specialist (ESWS). The YP squadron provides excellent leadership training for all midshipmen no matter what their intended service selection.

Surface Action Group

This year the Surface Action Group continued its tradition of exposing the members of the Brigade to many aspects of the Surface Warfare community. Prospective SWO's of all classes visited the ships in the Yard, attended receptions for the visiting wardrooms, and held a tailgater for the third year in a row. While the first class members chose their ships on Service Selection night, underclass SAG members provided administrative support in Smoke Hall to keep selection running smoothly and to get a look at how they would choose their ships in one or two years. The Surface Action Group will continue to serve the Brigade to produce future Surface Warriors.

Surface Action Group: (L-R) Dennis Dias, Larry Carpenter, President.

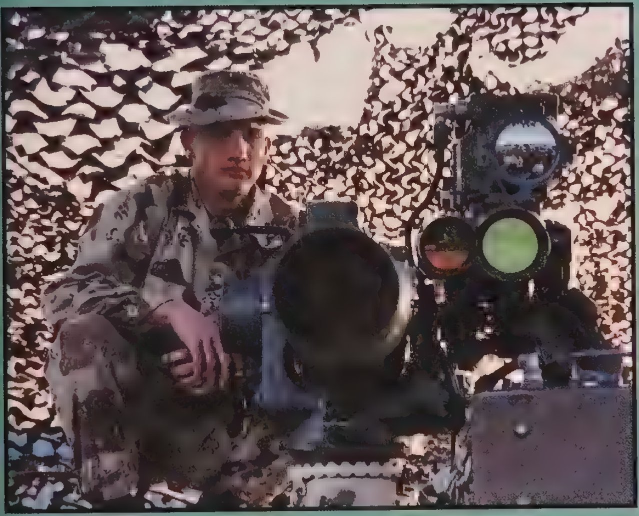
Semper Fidelis Society

The Semper Fidelis Society presents midshipmen the opportunity to take part in numerous activities geared toward the professional development of future Marine Corps officers. Yet this organization does not limit its membership to "do or die" grunts; it is open to anyone who is interested in a little action and excitement. Semper Fi has offered such events as white water rafting at Harper's Ferry, WV, a visit to the Civil War battlefield of Antietam, weapons shoots, and lectures by senior Marines from all Communities. While providing members with a taste of some of the challenges that they may face upon entering the Marine Corps, the Semper Fidelis Society stresses the "work hard, play hard" attitude of the United States Marine Corps.



Dolphin Club

The Dolphin Club exists to increase the brigade's awareness of the submarine warfare community. It is mainly composed of midshipmen intending to select a career in the submarine force, but participation in the club's activities is open to anyone. The most significant event of the 1991-92 academic year was the submarine hero's reception in October where the Dolphin Club honored decorated submariners from WWII. Among the many distinguished guests were RADM Eugene Fluckey, medal of honor recipient, Mrs. Hyman G. Rickover, and VADM Bacon, current CINCSUBLANT. During second semester, the Dolphin Club hosted a brief by the deputy commandant, CAPT Watson, about his experiences as commanding officer of the USS Jacksonville. The Dolphin Club also assists in hosting receptions for submarines that visit the yard. This broad spectrum of activities provides ample opportunity for midshipmen to meet both old and young submariners and to share with them a wealth of exciting fleet experiences.

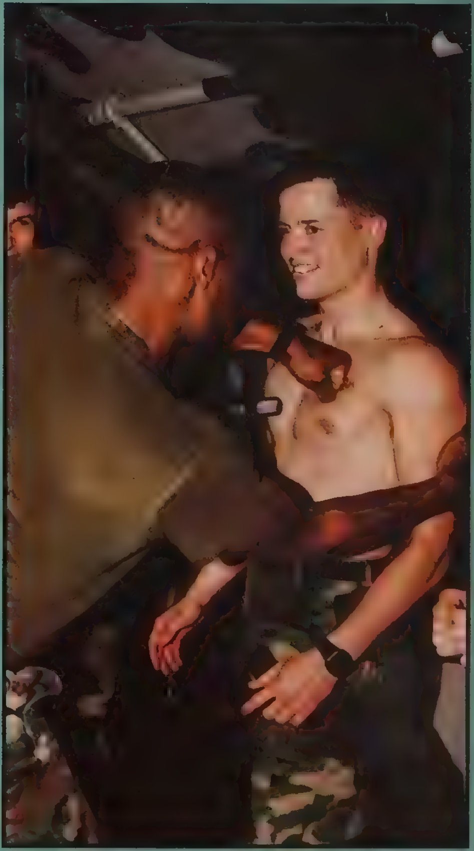
Airborne Training Unit

Only four units in the Navy are authorized to conduct airborne operations: the Navy Seals, EOD, China Lake Test Center, and the Airborne Training Unit at the Naval Academy. ATU is more than an ECA, it is a high visibility military unit that conducts joint operations with the 11th Special Forces, the US Special Operations Command, the Navy Seal's Leap Frogs, HMX-1 (the President's Helicopter squadron), and various other high-profile units. Midshipmen run the unit themselves with the assistance of Capt. Zotti, USMC and BM1 Black, and learn first hand the intricacies involved in operating military units; from scheduling aircraft operations and coordinating medical support to maintaining life-dependent equipment, midshipmen are involved at every level. The unit is supported by its own midshipmen riggers who pack hundreds of chutes a year, and midshipmen jumpmasters who are responsible for operation safety. Additionally, ATU screens 700 midshipmen annually for 250 billets at Army Airborne School. Each year, dozens of midshipmen earn the gold wings of a Naval Parachutist, and hundreds more are given the opportunity to put their "feet and knees in the breeze."



ATU

Women's Professional Association

The Women's Professional Association (WPA) was started in 1988 to provide an opportunity for midshipmen, both male and female, to become more familiar with the various career opportunities for female Navy and Marine Corps officers, their specific career paths, and the overall role of women officers in today's Navy. In the spring of 1992, eight representatives from WPA travelled to West Point to attend the Corbin Seminar, which included roughly 100 cadet, midshipmen, and officer participants from West Point, the Air Force Academy, the Coast Guard Academy, the Merchant Marine Academy, and Navy. The seminar afforded an opportunity to discuss candidly the differences and similarities between the academies as well as their strengths and weaknesses. In addition to the Corbin Seminar, WPA holds monthly meetings, publishes a newsletter with informative articles on a range of topics, and provides an internally generated "projected" service selection list to the first class women.

Society of Women Engineers

The U.S. Naval Academy chapter of the Society of Women Engineers is open to female engineers of all classes. It gives them an opportunity to be part of a national organization dedicated to the advancement of women in engineering communities nationwide. In addition this student chapter has sponsored lectures and visited several area high schools to encourage engineering education for young students.

Society of Women Engineers: (L-R) Charlene Hughes, President, Tiffany Zallnick, Secretary, Janet Vincent, Vice President.

Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference

For a week in the Spring, many foreign dignitaries, international students and midshipmen gather to discuss world political issues. This year's conference was focused on democracy. There are speakers who address the topics of the conference, as well as organized discussions among groups of students lead by midshipmen moderators. A dinner is also held to celebrate the conference and honor the speakers. The event involves months of detailed planning which starts as early as August. This planning is conducted by a committee of midshipmen who also run the entire conference, from speakers, to the dinner, to transportation.

Churchill Society

The Churchill Society's mission is to provide to members of the Brigade at large an opportunity to experience cultural events offered in the Baltimore / Washington / Annapolis area in an effort to broaden the horizons and experiences of its members. This year the society has offered pizza and poetry readings and trips to the Smithsonian, the Walters Art Gallery, and the Edgar Allen Poe House, as well as publishing a weekly newsletter of events at area colleges, museums, theaters, and concert halls. The club is named in honor of Naval Academy graduate Winston Churchill, America's most popular novelist at the turn of the century and who was in no way connected with the British Prime Ministry.

Amateur Radio Club

The USNA Amateur Radio Club, W3ADO, is one of the oldest ECA's at the Academy, dating from the earliest days of radio. It is also one of the most future-oriented clubs here. Midshipmen hams talked to people in the U.S. and many foreign countries using morse code, computer transmissions, and just regular voice communications. For most of the year, the club was locked out of its HF ham shack due to asbestos removal. However, in the spirit of ham innovation, W3ADO set its sights on high-tech VHF and space communications. The club made extensive use of the satellite dish on Hospital Point and the satellite control room in Rickover Hall. Midshipmen talked to hams on board the Space Shuttle Atlantis and Space Station Mir. The club made extensive use of satellites, using dedicated amateur satellites and even the moon to reflect its signals around the world.

American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics

The U.S. Naval Academy's student chapter of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics seeks to foster pride and interest in the Brigade of Midshipmen about American air and space achievements by sponsoring field trips, engineering competitions, and hosting guest speakers. AIAA's guest speakers include astronauts, internationally recognized aerospace figures, and professors of aerospace engineering who discuss historical and current air and space events. All midshipmen are invited to join the USNA chapter of AIAA which is proud to say that the U.S. Naval Academy has graduated more astronauts than any other institution of higher learning in the United States.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is an organization that was first founded in 1880 to set standards for engineering specifications at a time when professional engineering was just emerging. The Naval Academy's student section gives students a greater perspective on their engineering fields through lectures, contests and field trips. While the focus of the club is primarily Mechanical and Ocean Engineering, membership is open to all engineering majors and all field trips and lectures can be equally appreciated by all engineering disciplines.

Society of Automotive Engineers

The Naval Academy Society of Automotive Engineers is one of the few professional societies open to all engineering students. SAE includes operations with all current forms of mechanically powered transportation. This society is used throughout industry as a means of achieving high standards of safety in the Aeronautical, Automobile, Railroad, and Trucking communities. Each year, the USNA chapter enters competitions in several areas of engineering applications sponsored by the national SAE organization. It also sponsors such events as the Chrysler Viper presentation.

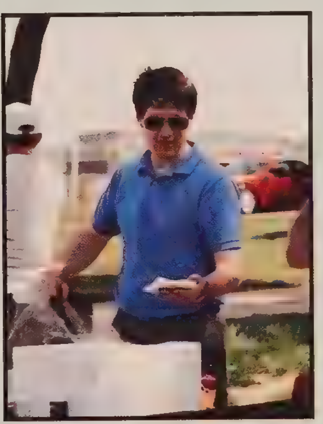
Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers

The Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers is one of the largest professional societies in the world. The local chapter at the Naval Academy provides midshipmen with the opportunity to join this national organization. The IEEE society is open to all majors. Some of the club's annual events include a project fair, an awards ceremony during Commissioning Week, and a softball game against the faculty. The IEEE is a unique opportunity for midshipmen to become members of a national engineering organization.



Association for Computing Machinery

The Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) is a nationwide professional organization that promotes the advancement and publicity of computer science and other related fields of study. "Founded in 1947 as the society of the computing community, the Association for Computing Machinery is dedicated to the development of information processing as a discipline, and to the responsible use of computers in an increasing diversity of application (communications of the ACM)." The Naval Academy's chapter of the ACM is an academic club or extracurricular activity. Though the ACM is an academic ECA, one is not required to become a member. The ACM represents Electrical Engineering and Systems Engineering as well as those in the field of Computer Science. Among the club's activities during the 1991-1992 academic year were an in-house programming contest, the regional computing contest at the University of Maryland, a field trip to the Crystal City Naval Air Station for a secret-level brief on aircraft mission planning used in Desert Storm, and a lecture by Dr. James Hahn from George Washington University on "virtual reality and computer graphics."

The ACM officers for the 1991-1992 academic year are: Marine Corps Major George Bedar, officer representative; Professor Eun Park, faculty advisor; Midn 1/c James Thompson, President; 1/c Ron Soule, Vice President; 2/c Rich Solis, Treasurer; and 3/c Anil Phull, Secretary.

ACM: (L-R) Ronald Soule, James Thompson, President.

Math Club

The Mathematics Club exists to afford midshipmen the opportunity to expand their knowledge and appreciation of the use of math in today's technical world. The Mathematics Club is open to all midshipmen, and is highly encouraged for all math majors. Several lectures are sponsored throughout the year which provide midshipmen with a broader insight into practical applications of mathematics in society.

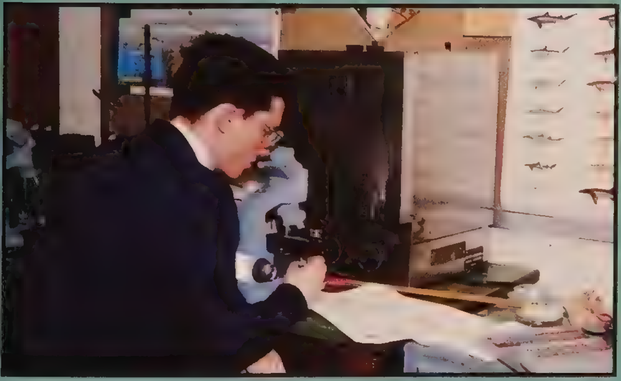
Astronomy Club

The 1991-1992 Astronomy Club began the year with a welcome addition to its inventory: an 8.25" refracting telescope designed by Alvan Clark in 1852. The observatory has taken a prominent place on the Academy grounds right across from Hubbard Hall. The scope was graciously donated by the Class of 1941 to mark their 50th anniversary. In addition, a solar filter will be added to facilitate the viewing of solar eclipses and daily sunspot activity. The members have used the scope to see the rings of Saturn, the bands and colors of Jupiter, and a host of deep-sky objects including nebulae and globular clusters. The club made a trip to Goddard Space Center late in the first semester and learned first hand the difficulties experienced in communicating and coordinating all of the space vehicles and satellites employed by the United States, including the Hubble Space Telescope and space shuttles. An effort will be made in March to communicate with the Space Shuttle Atlantis from the decks of the Academy's YP's to avoid interference. With two of the mission's seven members being Academy graduates, (including the shuttle commander, Charles Bolden - Class of '68 and mission specialist Dave Leetsma - Class of '71) it is evident that the strong interest of midshipmen in the sky above them has not changed.

Marine Technology Society

The Marine Technology Society is part of a national society that has only a few undergraduate clubs as part of it. One of the club's main goals is to educate the general student population about the marine environment and its effect on us as inhabitants of Earth. Through lectures, expeditions, tours and ship visits, midshipmen have the opportunity to examine the marine world and what their role in it is. The club actively participates in educating the local community in naval roles in environmental awareness and shares the learning experiences in the Chesapeake with them. In addition to this, the club, formerly known as the Oceanography Club, takes time to educate the oceanographers and those interested in the field in the real life applications that exist in the fleet and give hands on experience in the field.



Chemistry Club

As an affiliate of the American Chemical Society, the Chemistry Club exposes midshipmen to the opportunities available in the chemical profession, as well as the latest in chemical research. Guest speakers, which have included a biochemist from the FBI lab, allow the nearly 100 members to see how chemistry impacts our daily lives. In addition, midshipmen assist Chemistry Department faculty with research projects, work at national laboratories and hospitals during the summer, judge local science fairs, and help with the Eastern College Science Seminar. Highlights of the year include a banquet and end-of-the-year picnic.

Tau Beta Pi

Tau Beta Pi is the national engineering honor society, taking its members from the top one-eighth of junior and top one-fifth of senior engineering students at member institutions. The Naval Academy's chapter, the only one at a service academy, was founded in 1984 and has since involved itself in judging local science fairs, and assisting the engineering departments in their presentations to fourth class midshipmen interested in engineering majors, aiding in the administration of the annual Engineer-in-Training (EIT) examination, and undertaking other projects in the engineering field.

Sigma Pi Sigma

Founded in 1968, the Naval Academy chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma was one of the first ten chapters to reach the 600-member level, and the society has grown in number and interest over the years. The Honor Society has promoted academic excellence in the Brigade by honoring the top students who have successfully completed at least three semesters of physics studies. Through the Society of Physics Students, the associate members of the Honor Society, the club has developed interest in physics at the Academy by providing programs which explore new areas of research and theory. In every way, the Society has striven to embody its motto, "Investigation: the Forerunner of Knowledge."

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta is the International Honor Society in history. The Omega-Kappa chapter here at the Academy is open to midshipmen of all majors, and membership is offered for excellence in history classes and all around academics. Phi Alpha Theta has sponsored many interesting speakers and trips to museums, battlefields, and other historical sites. Additionally, some members are chosen to attend regional conferences where papers are read and judged.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

All over the yard you hear of examples of midshipmen giving of their time to help the community, be it food drives or building homes for the underprivileged. Big Brothers/Big Sisters is yet another example of this midshipman generosity. The difference is that our time goes towards the development of youths in the Annapolis or Glenn Burnie communities who don't receive a lot of quality time with someone who can act as a role model, friend, or just a big brother or big sister. With the schedules that the average midshipman follows, it is easy to see that this is no small commitment. That is not to say that every free moment is spent with our little brother/sister. Instead we'll call once or twice a week and get together a couple times a month. As a club we plan activities on the yard, like bowling, skating, picnics, or sporting events, where all the bigs can invite their littles and not have to worry much about transportation. We also go to events off the yard, like Oriole's games, trips to the zoo or the Baltimore Big Brother's/Big Sister's Christmas Party. These events are good opportunities for the littles to get around some and meet different people. To be matched with one of the kids, the caseworkers try to find a big and little who share common interests, hobbies, and backgrounds, all in the effort to facilitate the process of becoming friends. In most cases this is very successful. The mids are not always on the giving end though. The most important thing about being a big is the special friendship that develops with his little. In return for the time you give, you receive the satisfaction of being able to watch your little grow, make the right choices, and knowing that you were a part of his development.

Scuba Club: (L-R) Sitting, Jonathan Russell, President, James Pettit, Vice President, Standing, Matt Seipt, Secretary, David Ford, Training, Karl Schultz, Treasurer, John Hawver, First Lieutenant.

Scuba Club

The USNA Scuba Club, with its large number of members, is one of the largest clubs at the Academy. The club offers PADI qualification courses ranging from the basic open water course through divemaster, while also offering the entire spectrum of PADI specialty courses. Regular club dives include qualification dives in Bainbridge, PA, wreck diving off the coast of Ocean City, MD, a variety of World War I and World War II wrecks along the east coast, and the annual spring break trip to the Florida Keys. The Scuba Club continues to expand, offering more exciting courses and new dive locations every year. The club prides itself in providing its members with the safest as well as the latest in diving equipment. Members are looking forward to taking full advantage of this underwater sport in the future as they travel around the world on summer cruises and first tours.

Archery Club: (L-R) John McGunnigle, Carl Cirillo, President.

Archery Club

The Archery Club was founded in 1984 by Stephen Waugh due to the number of people interested in bow sports. There are currently over fifty members whose specialties vary from crossbow shooting to formal target-style archery. There are the traditionalists with their wooden recurves and the high-tech deerslayers with their compound composite cam bows. On Saturday mornings one can spot archers leaving on weekend with bows slung over their shoulders. New members are welcome, and no shooting experience is required. The club also has a number of bows for club use.

Ski Club

The purpose of the Ski Club is to provide a chance for midshipmen to get off the yard, for a day, and pursue their love of the sport of skiing. The club also enables midshipmen to try skiing for the first time. Members of the Ski Club staff take care of all of the logistics, so skiers can enjoy the skiing and the company of each other, without the hassle. The Ski Club was one of the most active ECA's in the brigade this year. After Christmas Leave, the club commenced conducting movement orders every Saturday, offering midshipmen with more days on the slopes than ever before. A new ski storage/tuning room and the support of LT Edward Mullen made this year's club even better.

WRNV had another sensational year rockin' the airwaves! From the pre-game tunes at all the football games to pep rallies and even King Hall, WRNV jox rocked the Brigade. Big highlights for this year included new sideline uniforms, Army road trip, and those stupid sound effects CDs. Big thanks goes to LT Merrell for a great rookie year putting up with us. What do you mean we gotta be licensed!?! Seriously, though, the jox on WRNV proved that 10 watt non-commercial radio is great fun.

Aerobics

Somewhere in Halsey, Monday thru Friday, including drill days, listen for the jams and follow the heat to the aerobics realm. Strictly voluntary and co-ed, no exemptions or discriminations involved, this aerobicizing action will test your endurance, flexibility, and coordination. Those that accept the hour-plus challenge will not only run, jump, and bounce, but also perform a multitude of abdominal crunches, flutter kicks, hydrants, mind-benders, and a plethera of push ups. The instructors are psycho and the PT sessions are tests of sweat, pain, and sometimes attrition. Can you Hang?

ORGANIZATIONS

Reef Points

The Reef Points Committee is responsible for editing and revising the annual edition of Reef Points for the incoming plebe class. The book is used as a learning tool during Plebe Summer, as well as during the Academic year. It provides updated information about Navy life, history, and traditions, and is known as the "Plebe Bible."

Trident Calendar

The Trident Calendar Club is a non-profit, self supporting ECA that has been a tradition at the Naval Academy for over thirty years. The calendar is produced by midshipmen from submissions taken from the Brigade of Midshipmen. The end product is then made available for sale to the Brigade and to the public. The task of sales constitutes the majority of the work for the Trident Calendar staff. Selling calendars at home football games, through mail orders, and through Brigade requisitions keeps the staff busy most of the year.

Motrin Wins Cripple Crown

The P.E. Review Board has named senior Swallow Motrin as the winner of the presügious Cripple Crown award for 1992. This prize is awarded annually to the senior who has demonstrated outstanding presence and leadership on the many sub squads here at the academy during their four years here.

Swallow was a member of almost every sub squad here at the academy, from the first day of PEP during plebe summer, to the very last situp on the PRT as a firstie. She has often missed squad practices due to injuries, but with a smile on her face and a crutch under her whiteworks-clad arm, she always came charging back. Bravo Zulu, Swallow!

"When it absolutely, positively had to get there yesterday."

Log

The LOG is the monthly magazine that pokes fun of life at the Naval Academy and at the antics of the Brigade of Midshipmen, while providing an informal forum for the Brigade's artistic and journalistic endeavors. The LOG accomplishes this through literature (fact or fiction, serious or otherwise), photography, and artwork provided by the members of the Brigade or those who know us best. The core of the LOG, however, is the twenty or so members of the editorial staff who actually put the LOG together each month. These are the people whose goal it is to provide the Brigade with a mirror of itself and with an outlet for creativity, but not without having a great deal of fun and laughter too.

Lucky Bag

Every, well, most Friday nights while firsties were on liberty and plebes were studying for their pro-quiz, a small group of people could be seen disappearing into a small room high up in the catacombs. These people were the dedicated staff members who made the Lucky Bag possible. Under the watchful eye of Editor Matthew Taliaferro, the Lucky Bag staff worked hard sending out letters, cropping pictures, fighting with the computers and sometimes even writing copy. Putting together the largest yearbook in the country was no easy task. Some staff members gave up their weekends, leave periods and time between summer cruises in order to help finish the book. The staff presents its efforts to the Brigade of Midshipmen and the Class of 1992 as a representation of the 1991-1992 Academic Year.

Editor Matthew Taliaferro and Taylor Publishing Representative Pat Mahony: "Pages Pat? I don't even know the number of pages..."

Below, Middle: Photographer Ron Karun learns that photographers can do more than just take pictures.

Bottom: Photography Editor Vince Vanoss once again abuses that civilian clothes privilege for photographers at Army- Navy.

Left: Our dinner arrives on time once again!

A YEAR OF Changes

It all seems a blur. Four years are gone and no one knows where they went. From plebes to firsties it was a long trip . . . but was it?

PARTY

A YEAR OF Changes

We do many things while here at the Academy. We make friends and have fun. We smile and we frown . . .

A YEAR OF Changes

We give from within ourselves to help others, whether it be food, money, or just a friendly piece of advice.

A YEAR OF Changes

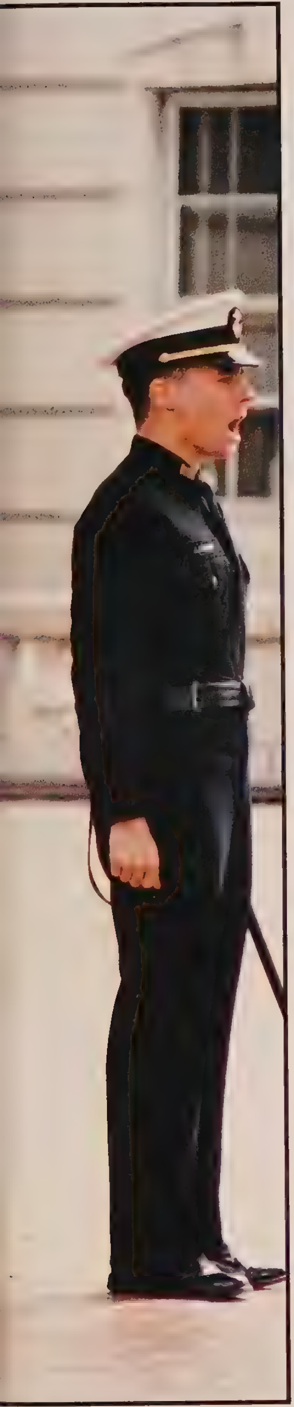
We experience comaraderie with our classmates and other members of our company. From the drill field to the wardroom, the people around us become our second family.

A YEAR OF Changes

We make acquaintances that give us something to look forward to. Weekends with that someone special are sometimes few and far between.

A YEAR OF Changes



But we change also. Even though many times it seems we just go through the motions, we are different people when we leave here. We have more knowledge and have grown in all directions. Change is good. Without it, life would not be nearly as rewarding.

A YEAR OF Changes

So we say goodbye to set out on another adventure. An ever changing world awaits us. This past year has changed our lives forever, and we look to the future to see what it holds in store for us. Whatever the challenge, it can be surmounted.

★ WELL DONE ★
★ CLASS OF 1992 ★

The United States Naval Academy Alumni Association is very pleased to welcome your class to our ranks, with 99% of the class coming aboard as Life members of the Alumni Association.

REMEMBER THAT YOUR MEMBERSHIP ENTITLES YOU TO THE FOLLOWING BENEFITS:

- Low-cost group term life insurance
- Reduced rate group investment program
- Group travel opportunities
- Low-cost hospitalization supplement plan
- Subscription to Shipmate magazine, which includes Class notes and the Association's Annual Report
- Eligibility to vote for Officers and Trustees
- Receipt of Class newsletters, Homecoming information, etc.
- Employment assistance

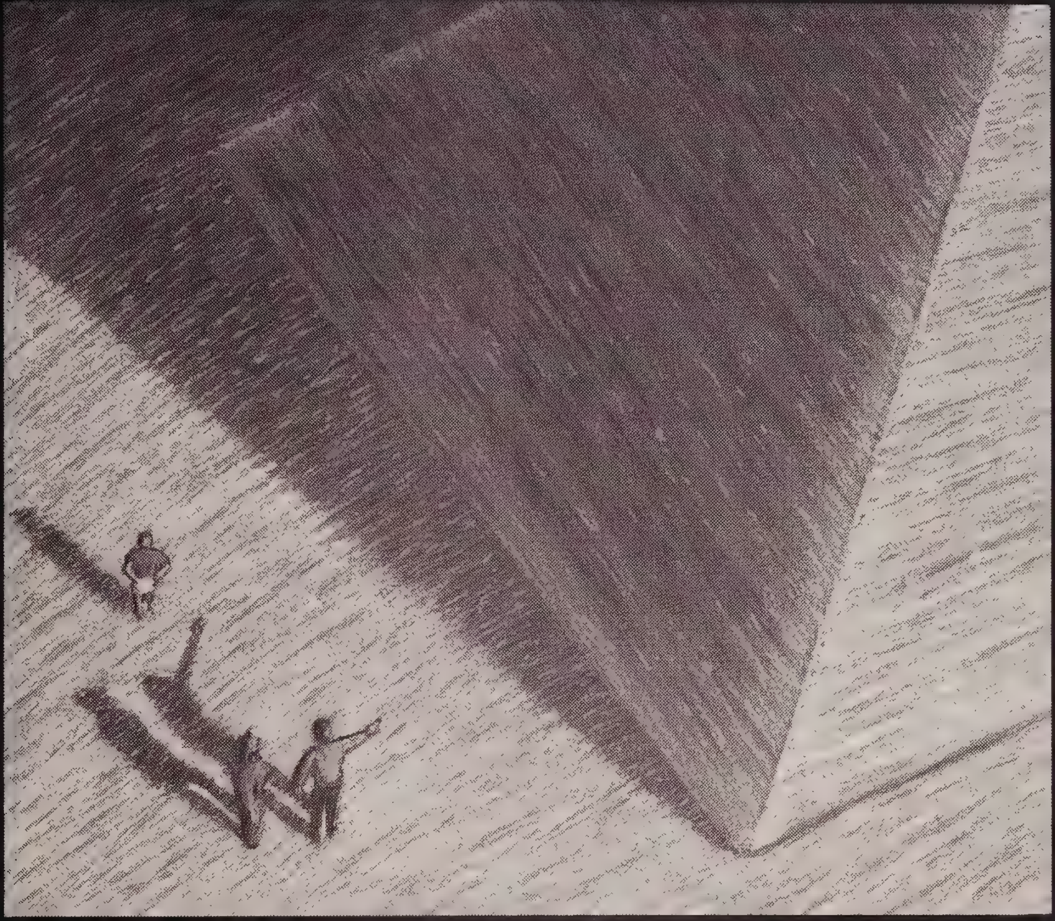
The list of benefits will increase as the needs arise, so stay in touch and let us know if we can be of assistance to you in any way.

Best wishes for future happiness and success as you join the ranks of alumni who long have rendered distinguished service to our Country, our Navy and our Naval Academy!

★ WELCOME ABOARD ★

THE U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION



IT TAKES TIME TO DEVELOP STRENGTH AND STABILITY.
WE'VE TAKEN THE TIME.

USAA. 70 YEARS IN THE MAKING.

From our beginning in 1922, USAA has been built on a powerful idea - be the best at servicing our members and all else will follow. It's a way of doing business that has kept us a step ahead of the ever-changing economic climate. And a way that has helped us develop into a rock-solid financial services company with more than 2 million members and associate members worldwide.

Our approach to service is simple. You talk. We listen. Then we mutually decide on the right insurance and financial products to fit your special needs. And we back it up with the financial stability you've come to depend on. Year after year after year.

Throughout our 70 year tradition of serving military officers and their families, we've constantly looked for new ways to improve our products and services - from insurance and investments to banking and discount buying services.

So if you're looking for a company with a long-standing reputation of strength and stability, look to USAA. We're here to offer you a lifetime of service at your command. Call 1-800-227-USAA.

USAA

Those eligible for USAA membership include anyone who is now or ever has been a commissioned or warrant officer in the U.S. military. Candidates for commission are also eligible to apply. Banking services not available in Pennsylvania.

A three-year old boy saluting at his father's funeral.

A woman crying over the body of a student shot
by the National Guard.

An American President lifting his pet beagle up by its ears.

A lone student standing in front of four tanks.

Private Sector, Public Defense

When it comes to performing U.S. military sealift operations, no one beats the civilian American seafarer, employed in the privately owned and operated U.S.-flag merchant fleet. Just ask the U.S. Navy.

Assistant Editor Janet Vincent- Alone in the office finishing the book in the final week:

Matt: Thank you for trusting me to finish your book. And no, I don't hate you for it, despite what I say.

To Betty, George,Cheryl and Friends: Thank you for all of your help during the "final crunch." It wouldn't be done without you.

Mom, Dad, and Sam and Family: Thank you for all of your support and for letting me "do it myself," no matter how hard it was. I love you all.

Editor's Notes

What a long strange trip it's been. Wow, I can't believe it's over! I couldn't have done it though, without all of my family and friends who supported me when things got hectic. As far as the yearbook goes, all I can say is that it was an experience that I will never forget. My staff put in long hours and even stayed here during liberty and leave periods to help me out at the end. I have a number of people I wish to thank for making my job as editor much easier. If I forget anyone, I apologize. There were so many people who gave an hour here and an hour there. Believe me, I appreciate everything you did for me. Well, here goes:

CAPT R.C. Adams: Thank you for letting me "run the show" my way. I think things went rather smoothly, considering what happened last year. You set a great example for me to follow and I learned much from your wisdom.

Janet E. Vincent: My assistant editor. You always asked me for things to do and I think that you got more than you bargained for the last month or so! I hope everything goes well after I leave. I know you'll do a good job.

Mike Favetti: 1993 Lucky Bag Editor. Mike, you were a great friend and we definitely had some good times. Good luck this year. I know you'll do well.

Andy Sekela: Andy, you were the only person who handed me your whole section on a silver platter ready to turn in. I can't believe you made the deadline for the directory, even if it was by only fifteen minutes!! Thanks for everything. I'm looking forward to Florida!

Andrea Myers: For a girl who hates computers, your layouts look outstanding! P.S. Thanks for for putting up with me when I woke you up those thousand or so times!

Rick Dowdy: I guess you didn't really know what you were getting into when you agreed to take the sports section. You did a great job though and came through in the end. Thanks.

Shaun McAndrew: Well, what can I say. I know we didn't see eye to eye on a lot of things, but you did everything I asked of you and then some. Thanks and good luck next year.

Raissa Wilson: Potts called you a "pistol" and that you were! Even though you didn't win your bet with Pat, you still got everything done. Have fun and never say never. . .

Katie Pruitt: You always had a smile on your face and nice things to say. You probably cheered me up more than anybody. You started out as copy editor and ended up helping Andrea.

Kimberly McIntosh: How many books did we mail this year? It was good that you lived in "close" vicinity of 7th wing basement where all the books were! Take care and don't break too many hearts.

Vince Vanoss, Ron Karun, and the rest of my photographers: You guys saved us! A yearbook isn't a yearbook without pictures and you gave them to me. I just hope that someday I can get that good with a camera!

Molly Carroll: Without you the Brigade would not have gotten photographed. Thanks a bunch!

Betty Fabry: You were always just a phone call away. You typed in more copy than anyone on the staff and were there in the end when we really needed you.

Phil Hoffman: A true genius with the camera! Without your pictures, the sports section would never get done. So when are you going to teach me to take pictures like that?

Christy J. Hanna, 1990 Editor: You picked me to be editor back in the summer of '90. Even though I was scared to take the job, you never had any doubts. Thanks for being such a great friend and mentor. You taught me more about life than anyone I know. I don't know what I would have done without you.

George Rosa III: There are no words to describe how much I appreciate everything you've done for me and the Lucky Bag. You answered every question and did everything possible to help me out. You're a true friend and miracle worker. Now, how about that glass of champagne?

Karen May and everyone else at YBA: You saved us, as always! From the 1000+ copy negs to looking for old photos, everything was done to perfection. Not only do I thank you, but the staff thanks you as well.

Potts, Myrna, and the YBA Bowie Staff: I don't know how many rolls of film you developed, but I know it was a lot! Again, everything was done perfectly.

Julie Corneal: This year was tough but you still managed to get the ads that counted. Thanks for keeping me up to date and hounding me about that Army book! I'm just glad I found the ads from last year!

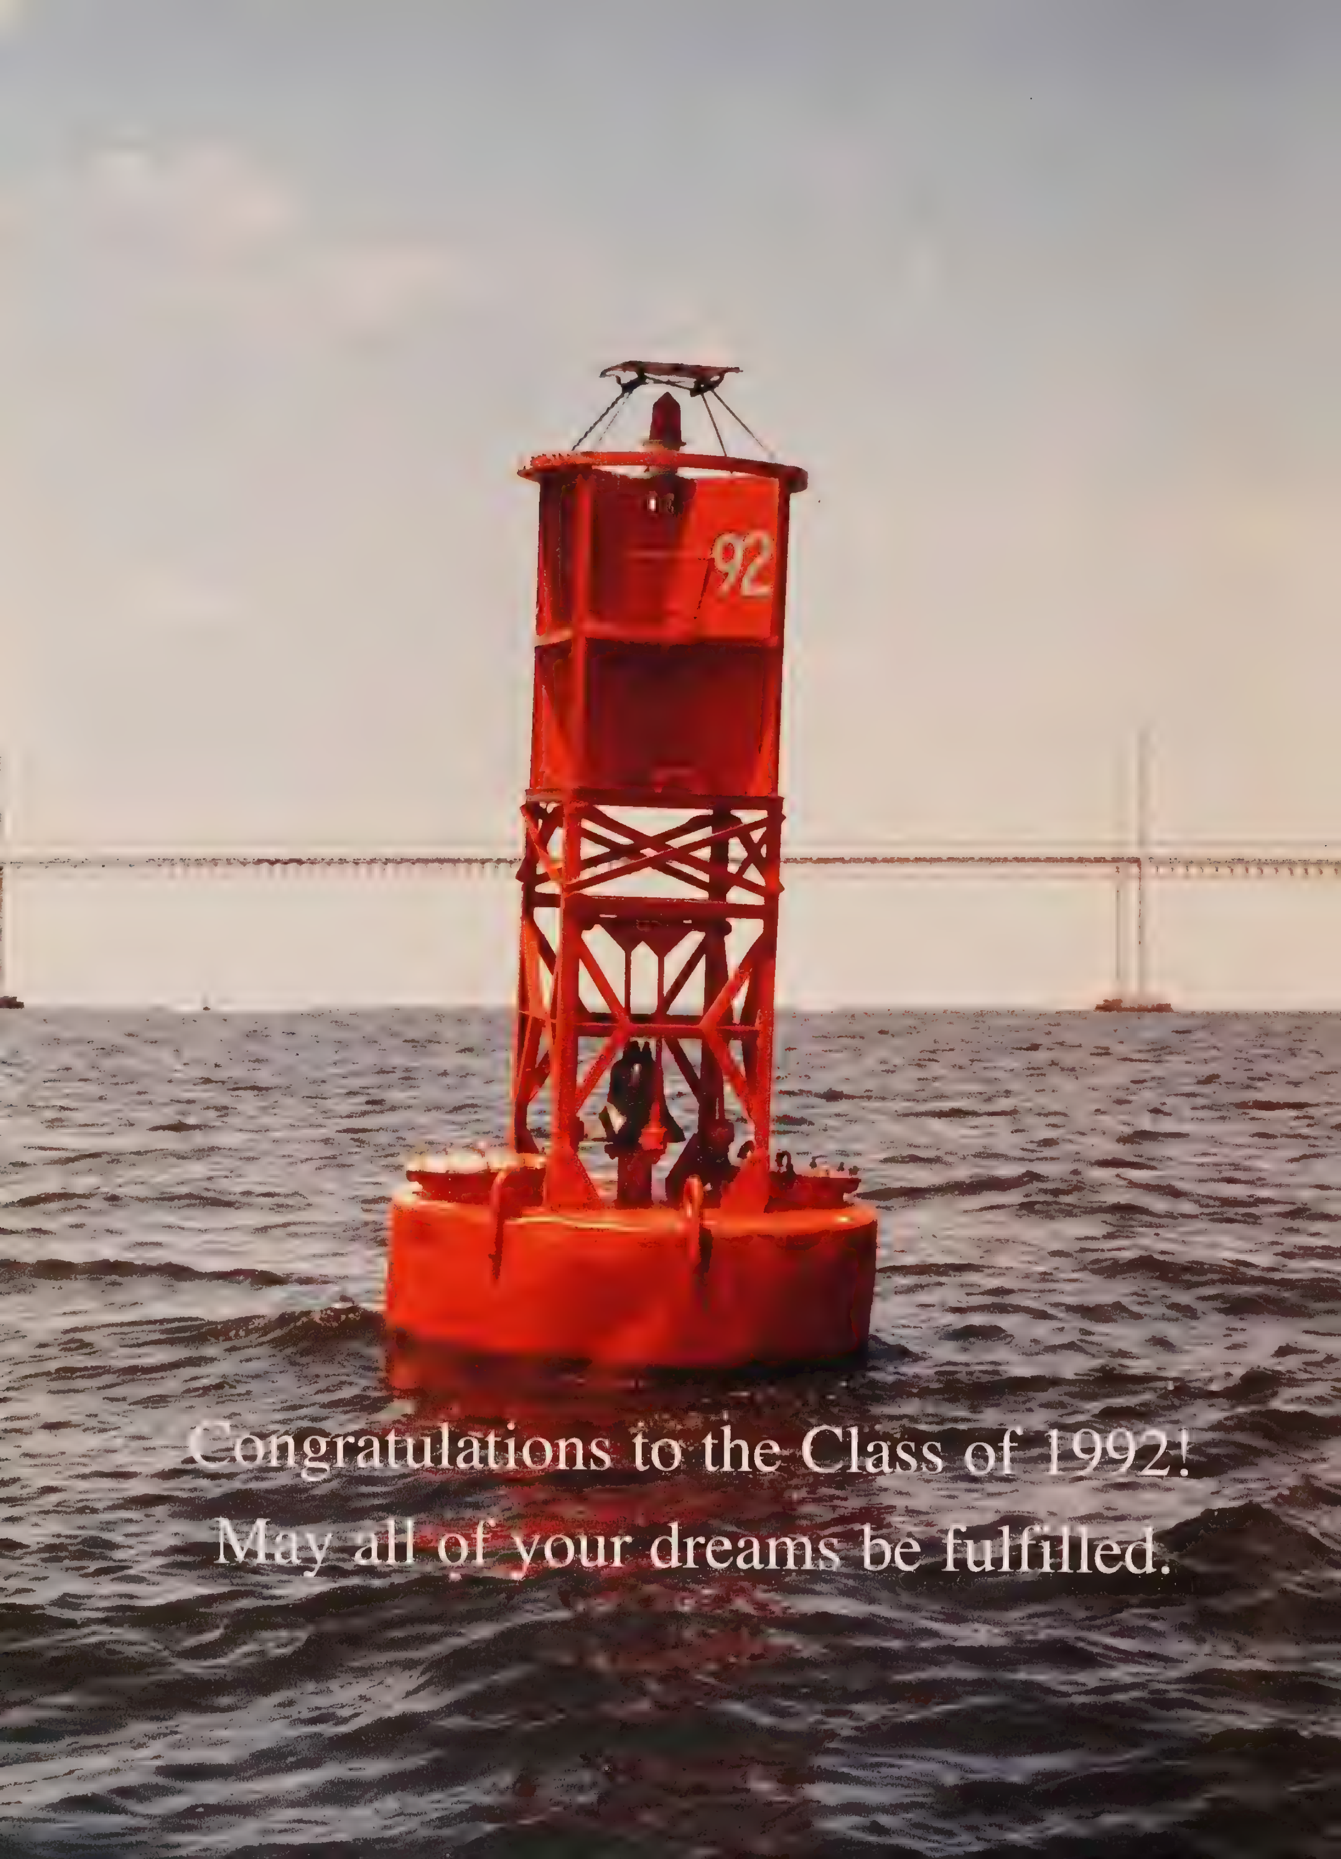
Bradley D. Dunham: My roommate and mentor. You taught me what a true disciple of Christ really is and someday I hope that I can be as dedicated to Him as you. Thanks for everything.

Aileen M. Buchanon: You got me out of the office and showed me how to have a good time! Between crabs and beer, I think I gained 15 pounds! Take care and keep in touch.

Friends and family of Robert Boehning: As editor, I think I can speak for everyone in the Brigade, especially the class of '92, that Rob was a symbol of courage to all of us. Our hearts go out to you and you are in our prayers.

Mom, Dad, and Tom: Without you guys, I think that I would have gone insane. Just talking to you on the phone made all of my problems go away. You're the best and I love you.

J. Matthew Taliaferro



Congratulations to the Class of 1992!
May all of your dreams be fulfilled.
